GIBSOL
HEROIC
SERIES.
No. 5.

THE HEALING OF CUCHULAIN.

"The curing and healing men came to attend and watch and mark them that night; for naught else could they do because of the direfulness of their cuts and their stabs and gashes and their numerous wound but apply to them philtres and spells and charms to staunch their blood and their bleeding—and their deadly pains. Of every magic potion and every spell and every charm that was applied to the cuts and stabs of Cuchulain, their like share he sent over the ford Westward to Ferdiad." Tain Bo Cualnge (pronounced Thaun Bo Cool-n'ya).

The accounts which we hear of the healing powers of Gibsol are scarcely less wonderful than the healing of Cuchulain. Gibsol Ointment combines the Herbal Treatment in use since Heroic times with antiseptic medicines. It soothes the pain of Cuts, Gashes and Stabs, and banishes the torturing itching and irritation of skin trouble like magic. It clears away all unhealthy matter and stimulates the growth of healthy, new skin. A box of Gibsol should be kept in every home as a protection from, and a cure for, all kinds of Skin Trouble.

It is unequalled for Eczema, Ringworm, Piles, Itching, Irritation, Bad Legs, Cuts, Wounds, Gashes, Sores, Burns, Scalds, Cracked Skin, Sore Feet, Pimples, Scurvy, Rashes, &c.

The Greatest Skin Healer of the Age. GIBSOL The Greatest Skin Healer of the Age.

Of all chemists, 1/3, or post free from the manufacturers, J. Gibson and Co., Claro Lane, Dublin.

GIBSOL VET BRAND (Red Label), Price 2/6 per tin, is equally effective for Skin Troubles in animals. (O.K.)

17% more miles per gallon

17% more miles per gallon from "Shell" than from alternative petrols costing the same—a cleaner, livelier engine—no knocking—no retarding of the spark—and infinitely more power on hills, are proven by the series of Kingdom-wide tests which we are publishing in these columns week by week. Write for booklet, "In Miles & Sterling," giving the complete series of tests.

The easy practical way to polish and preserve finished surfaces is with JOHNSON'S PREPARED WAX and a cloth—you don't need brushes or mops of any kind. Simply apply the wax with a cloth. Very little rubbing is required to produce an exquisite, lustrous polish of great beauty and durability.

JOHNSON'S PREPARED WAX gives perfect results over any finish, varnish, French polish, oil, etc. It imparts a dry velvety polish which is impervious to water, dust, scratches, heelmarks, finger-prints, etc. The finish obtained is always sanitary, durable and disinfecting.

JOHNSON'S PREPARED WAX is made in paste, liquid and powdered form. We recommend the Liquid Wax for polishing furniture, leather goods, woodwork and motor cars. Use the Paste Wax for polishing floors of all kinds, wood, linoleum, tile, etc., and the Powdered for dance floors.

SPORTING NEWS.

TRAMORE MEETING—YESTERDAY.

The weather, if colder, remained fine for the concluding stage of the Tramore Meeting, but the attendance, of course, showed a big falling off compared to that of Easter Monday. The racing again was only moderate, but backers had not so much their own way as on the first afternoon. Daisy Wood, second to Charwoman in the Woodstown Plate on Monday, was installed favourite for the Waterford Plate. As on the opening day, she made most of the running, but Queen Elf joined issue turning into the straight, and, heading the favourite in the last hundred yards, she got the better of a good finish. Tramore Boy, with odds laid on him for the Grace Dieu Plate, in which he was making his debut over fences, gave a flippant display, and, leading throughout, easily supplemented his victory of the previous afternoon. In the Tramore Plate, a long way from home the favourite and Castilian were out by themselves, but Say came with a rare rattle at the finish, to beat Castilian for second place. The odds laid on Kosmos Maid for the Curraghmore Plate never looked like materialising—indeed, at no part of the race did she figure prominently in the running. Irish Remedy, on the other hand was well to the fore for the greater part of the journey, but was tackled three-quarters of a mile from the end by Bohernore, who, drawing right away, won very comfortably from the 10 to 1 chance, Moll Cotter. Irish Remedy, who finished third, dropped dead after passing the winning post. Knockea, running in Mr. J. Widger's name and colours, experienced no trouble in landing the long odds laid on him, beating his solitary opponent Speedy Minstrel, in the Town Plate, this being F. Morgan's second winning mount of the day. For a wind-up Royal Field beat Glencarbry by a common canter for the Guillamene Plate. Details:—

MANCHESTER MEETING—YESTERDAY.

ALWAYS SCORES AGAIN.

For the concluding stage of this fixture yesterday, there was another large attendance in fine weather. Frank Webber, who was well backed, won cleverly in the Jubilee Hurdle Race, from Ardavon, the latter being steered to victory in the City Four-Year-Old Hurdle by Mr. J. R. Anthony. The same rider had just previously got Always home as winner of the Five Hundred Steeplechase Handicap. The Irish five-year-old sprang into prominence by winning the Champion 'Chase at Liverpool, and, despite his 9lb. penalty, he was favourite. Expeditious and Bartry appeared to have the issue between them when they jumped the last fence clear of Always, but, finishing with a tremendous burst of speed, Always won comfortably. The much-fancied Silent Sands fell at the first fence. Details:—

BIRMINGHAM MEETING—YESTERDAY.

Though the fields at Bromford Bridge were smaller than on the opening day, there were sufficient runners to maintain interest at a good level. Backers led off badly when they made General Reed favourite for the Norton Selling Plate, for, though he ran well, he found one just too good for him in Witch Doctor, a 7 to 1 chance. The winner was passed on to Mr. G. F. Heath at 340 guineas. Zea carried most money in the Tamworth Selling Handicap, but again anticipations were upset. Nachedorne, a recent winner at Nottingham, scoring from the 5 to 1 mark. Reflection ran away with the Sutton Plate. Ardfern, amongst the 100 to 8 division, sprang a surprise in the Burton Handicap; but Wanton was an odds on favourite for the Packington Handicap, which he won by two lengths. Details:—

NEWCASTLE MEETING—YESTERDAY.

Atmospherically conditions for the second day of Newcastle Spring Meeting showed a distinct improvement. The course, however, remained on the soft side. For the Gosforth Park Handicap there was some spirited wagering, in which Eiderdown was always favourite, with Fairdale, which missed engagements yesterday, and Loppy next in demand. Backers' judgment, however, proved to be hopelessly wrong, the winner, Wintringham, being a 100 to 6 chance, which came home two lengths in front of Bold Chap, and Gwenllian, a fancied candidate from Sadler's stable. The Jesmond Welter Handicap also furnished a surprise winner, Main Royal coming from the other division. The concluding event fell to Mr. J. R. Renwick with Count Ross, making up his third success of the day and sixth for the meeting. Details:—

LINGFIELD MEETING—YESTERDAY.

The weather cleared beautifully at Lingfield by noon yesterday, and a good attendance of racing enthusiasts were present to witness the sport. The Lingfield Spring Two-Year-Old Plate fell to The Knight, who beat Helen of Troy by a neck in the Oxted Selling Plate. Last Born proved to be the best of a very moderate lot, and won comfortably from Little Mischief. The most valuable event of the day was the Chiddingstone Maiden Three-Year-Old Plate, which produced a field of fourteen. Lord Durham's Chrysopolis was soon a firmly established favourite, and at one time appeared to have the race well in hand, when Royal Alarm, mounted by Carslake, came along at a rare pace, to win from the favourite by a neck, with Panoply third, two lengths behind. The Surrey Two-Year-Old Selling Plate produced a splendid finish, in which Mr. Eustace got the better of Rock a Bye by a head, with Magnificence third, four lengths away. Details:—

THE MEATH.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Last week-end was productive of a lot of hunting, which was handicapped by indifferent scent. On Thursday hounds met at Loughcrew, finding their first fox in Kilrush Wood, from which they ran across to the Sheep Walk and back. The pack worked for some time all through the wood, and were eventually defeated. The next find was in the Laurel Wood on the hill. A nice run supervened down by the Rectory, clean through the Sheep Walk, and up to Kilrush Wood, where again scent gave out. The next fox, found in Clonabrancy, gave a fast run. Leading first down to the extreme end of the Long Wood, he turned right-handed, when hounds ran very fast up to the village of Crossakiel, where they were finally beaten. Boltown covert, next drawn, had no fox, but there was a badger, which the pack killed, this finishing.

Saturday—Garradice. This was a dull, showery day almost all through. General Powell commenced with Ferrans covert, but drew a blank. A fox found in Agher Bog led first towards Rahinston, which he kept on the right; then on to the Kildare Hunt covert of Ryndville, where he got to ground. Found next in Captain Fowler's bog wood at Rahinston, when there was a run towards Agher Bog, but the Master stopped hounds before they reached it. From Rathmolyon stick covert came the next hunt. This fox led towards Rahinston as far as Drimlough Wood. Here he wheeled right-handed, led back into and through Hughes's furze to Moneymore gorse. The pack carried a line through it into Summerstown, where scent gave out, which finished the day.

WARD UNION STAGHOUNDS.

These hounds will meet to-day at Slane village at 1.30 (new time) to hunt an "outlier" only.

THE SEXTOBLADE is the Perfect Shaver.

"How's the razor this morning?"

A query one meets when forced by circumstances to have one's shave "abroad" on the "road"—

Your answer is invariably a cheerful affirmative.

Now, with a Sextoblade that is exactly the feeling every business man will have—

Every morning—every shave—every blade—shaving is a perfect job. Clean, cool, refreshing.

The Sextoblade blades are hollow-grounds—the principle is safety, plus efficiency. And—a little time each morning after shaving to clean and strop the blade on a soft hide strop puts the perfect shaving edge into good trim for the next "delight" shave.

The Irish Times.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 7, 1920.

French troops yesterday morning occupied Frankfort and Darmstadt in order to compel Germany to comply with the terms of the Versailles Treaty and evacuate the Ruhr district.

The Independent Labour Party Conference at Glasgow yesterday decided to withdraw from the Geneva International, but rejected a proposal that it should become affiliated with the Third (Moscow) International.

The Lord Chief Justice, who opened the Commission for the City and County of Dublin yesterday, was unable to congratulate the Grand Juries on the state of their respective districts. A murder had been committed in the county near Glasnevin for which no person had been made amenable, and there were numerous cases of arson and intimidation. There had also occurred the cold-blooded murder of Mr. Alan Bell. The state of the city he regarded as unsatisfactory. There had been a large increase in the number of cases reported to the police, apart from minor offences. In the months of February and March there had been two murders and five attempts at murder. The wave of crime, if it continued, would inevitably react upon, and, perhaps, destroy the commercial life of the city.

At the Dublin County Commission yesterday Alfred Murray, a Sinn Fein alderman of Cork, was charged with having discharged a revolver at and wounded Constable Hayes, R.I.C., on the 30th of March, 1919. The prisoner, who refused to recognise the Court, was undefended. The jury disagreed, and the trial was postponed to the next Commission.

The trial of the men who are charged with the murder of Police Sergeant Brady at Lorrha, which was to have taken place this week at the Dublin Commission, has been postponed until the 22nd inst.

The inquest on the man and the woman who were shot at Portobello Bridge, Dublin, when a party of soldiers and a crowd of civilians came into conflict recently, was continued yesterday, and after a number of military witnesses had been heard was adjourned until Thursday, the 15th instant.

Sadhu Sundar Singh, a noted Indian missionary, addressed a crowded meeting, held under the auspices of the Irish Laymen's Missionary Union, in Dublin last night. The Archbishop of Dublin, in welcoming the Sadhu, said that his work in India had stirred them deeply.

Passengers travelling by railway from Dublin to Limerick on Monday and yesterday were searched in several instances by parties of soldiers and policemen. No arrests were made.

A determined and lawless agitation for the division of land is reported from Galway and Roscommon. In many instances cattle have been driven, walls levelled, and agricultural implements seized.

In London the Stock Markets opened with a fairly cheerful tone, but in the afternoon forced liquidation among Oils and other specialities developed on local and Continental account. Money was loanable at 4-4¼ per cent., with balances at 3 per cent. and less. Discount rates were steady. Gold fell 2s. to 103s. per ounce. The New York cable rate improved to 4.02 dollars.

The Cost of Crime.

In a music hall performance, once popular in Dublin, the hero smashed a vast amount of furniture and crockery. The more he smashed, the more the audience cheered and was excited. We are reminded of this "turn" by a curious aspect of the unhappy situation in Ireland. At present a conspiracy of crime is engaged in a work of national destruction. It is destroying the national reputation, national peace, and national prosperity. Yet the Irish people, as a whole, seem to survey the performance with the aloofness of spectators at a theatre. They refuse to realise—or, at least, behave as if they refused to realise—that the bill for all this destruction must be paid by themselves. Already that bill is mounting to a terrific size. Ireland is getting a bad name among her best customers across the Channel. The effect of the general insecurity soon must be visible—if it is not visible already—in our domestic trade and commerce, and in the restricted operations of the Irish banks. No doubt, the native brains and brawn which have been diverted from industry to sedition during the last few months represent, on the national balance-sheet, a loss of many hundreds of thousands of pounds. The amount of the claims for malicious injuries, granted or entered since the beginning of the year, might startle the most reckless if it could be stated in bulk. In his very grave charge to the Dublin County Commission yesterday the Lord Chief Justice said that one week's bill against the county for such injuries stood at the figure of £7,910. To-day many people—including even responsible newspapers—seem to regard the simultaneous destruction of some two hundred police barracks and huts as matter for light-hearted comment, if not for actual approval. Do they appreciate the cost of this beau geste by the young armies of the Republic? It is likely to mulct the ratepayers of twenty-seven counties in a sum of at least a quarter of a million pounds.

When men declare, or connive at, war on the foundations of ordered society they declare war on themselves. That truth soon will be brought home to all classes of Irishmen: it is being brought home to-day to the most prosperous class in the country. There is no practical distinction between political and social lawlessness, and the movement which encourages public anarchy encourages private greed. Already the Nationalist farmers of the West are getting a foretaste of the joys of life in Ireland after the last member of the hated garrison has vanished. The Irish land purchase system, which has produced the richest agricultural community in Europe, is one of the inflictions of British rule, and, presumably, is marked for extinction under the new Republic. The young soldiers of Sinn Fein, however, are getting impatient: they refuse to wait for "the day." A formidable land agitation has begun in the West, and the victims are not, as of old, great proprietors, but the snug farmers who have bought out their holdings under the Purchase Acts. The "landless" men, primed with Republican doctrine, prefer the call of an ancient instinct to the despised sanctions of British law, and are making things uncomfortable for the farmers after time-honoured methods. Their task is easy because, with the tacit consent of Irish public opinion—including the farmers' opinion—the whole machinery of law has been thrown on the scrap-heap. Graves are being dug on the property of farmers who refuse to part with it at the invader's price. There is a general demand, backed with threats and violence, for the division of grass lands among the "landless" men. The Roman Catholic Bishop of Galway is rightly perturbed by these menacing phenomena. Preaching on Easter Sunday, he said that it was immoral and unjust to deprive any man of his lawful possessions, and that some of the agitators are better provided with land than are those whom they seek to despoil.

The price of crime and revolution will appear in many forms—in hard cash, in loss of life and property, in moral and material degradation—but one thing is certain about them all. The bill will be presented to the Irish people as a whole and by no process of ingenuity will they be able to avoid payment in full. Is it not time, then, that the people should assert themselves before still more ruinous losses are incurred? They must rid themselves of two fatal illusions without further delay. The first is that they have no interest in the broken crockery beyond the excitement of reading about it in the newspapers; the other, that, because they hate the Government, they are under no obligation to help it. The smallest item in the list of damages will be charged ineluctably to their account. The Government, though they hate it, is trying to save Ireland for them as well as for the Empire. Its work is immensely difficult and it has made some mistakes; yet on its efforts to maintain law and order depend the fortunes of every man in Ireland who has anything to lose. If the Government's measures for the prevention of crime are often unsuccessful, the fault lies with the national opinion that refuses to support them. If they are sometimes drastic and dislocate public business, the fault lies in the same quarter. Increased severity is the only substitute—though a poor one—for popular sympathy with the forces of the law. Our people must continue to be farmers, professional men, and traders under any form of government, and the Executive that is trying to defeat a dreadful war against their peace and means of livelihood is, to that extent, their friend, however they may distrust its political record and intentions. Will any reasonable reader of the Lord Chief Justice's charge venture to dispute that fact?

Hungary and Peace.

Members of the Supreme Council of the Peace Conference cannot complain of a lack of variety. They had several months of Paris, a week of London, and now they are about to foregather at San Remo, a picturesque and delightful spot on the shores of the Mediterranean. Paris did not prove to be conducive to the evolution of world peace; the fogs of London choked the channels of conciliation; but there is a chance that difficulties and differences may be dissipated by the scented breath of the Italian Riviera. Unfortunately, the chance is slender. Difficulties have increased and differences multiplied since the Supreme Council had its last meeting. Hardly a single "settlement" of peace has been consolidated. On the contrary, war conditions have appeared again in many parts of Europe and Asia, and nobody shows the slightest inclination to accept the various patchworks and ethnographical mosaics which constitute the "new world." Hungary is the most recent delinquent. There seems to be every possibility that the Budapest Government may refuse to sign the Treaty of Peace. Count Apponyi—the Magyar Brockdorff-Rantzau—does not like the terms which have been dictated. In an interview granted to the Neues Wiener Tageblatt he states that "public opinion in Hungary unanimously rejects" them. Furthermore, "the Hungarian nation regards the peace as unjust, and considers the present peace terms also as dangerous from the standpoint of European peace." Nobody was foolish enough to expect the Hungarians to return thanks for the terms of the Treaty, but far too much time already has been wasted by German and Austrian recalcitrance. If the Magyars are allowed to follow their Allies' example, Europe will be harassed with strife and contention for another six months. Either the Hungarian peace terms are just or they are unjust. If they are just, the Supreme Council should insist on their acceptance sans phrase; if they are unjust, it should scrap them and begin all over again. Certainly the Magyars cannot be allowed to act in the capacity of judges. The terms, as we interpret them, are not very mild, but they are scrupulously just. The Hungarians lose a good deal of territory which never should have been theirs. Like the Germans, the Magyars are ferocious task-masters, and nobody except themselves will regret the cession of territory which is inhabited by non-Magyar races. We have no great faith in the universal validity of the principle of "self-determination," but Transylvania is as Rumanian as Aberdeen is Scottish, and Hungary has no more claim to the Banat of Temesvar than the "Irish Republic" has to the city of Belfast. Certainly Hungary, in common with the rest of Central Europe, is in a bad state. That state, however, will not be improved by a refusal to recognise Allied authority. If Count Apponyi is as patriotic as he pretends to be, he will either sign the terms without further parley or, in the alternative, resign his position in favour of someone whose pride has not eaten up his common-sense.

Danish Affairs.

The acute political crisis in Denmark has subsided almost as rapidly as it developed. The facts are simple. M. Zahle's Government, except for one brief interval, had been in office since 1913. It was supported by a coalition of the Social Democratic and Radical Parties, and in the Lower House of the Danish Parliament had a majority of three. In the Upper House it was in a hopeless minority. Last month the Prime Minister's policy on the question of Slesvig, and especially on the future status of Flensborg, caused serious dissatisfaction, and three deputies announced that they could not give further support to his measures. Thus M. Zahle was left without a majority in either House. The matter was reported to the King, and the Premier was invited to resign. He refused to do so, and thereupon the King exercised the power that is expressly reserved to him by the Danish Constitution and dismissed the Cabinet. The Social Democratic Party, enraged at this turn of events, refused to "carry on" until a new Cabinet had been appointed. Its leaders clamoured for the return of M. Zahle, and declared that, unless King Christian granted their demand, a general strike would take place. The King, however, would not yield, and after a while the enthusiasm for a strike evaporated. The settlement which has been reached provides that the temporary Cabinet shall introduce an Electoral Reform Bill at once, and that a general election shall be held as soon as the measure becomes law. It is believed that both the Radicals and the Socialists will lose heavily in the election.

Rumour.

Rumours travel quickly in every country, and lose nothing by their journeys. A correspondent of The Times shows what the Turks can make of a trivial incident. On St. Patrick's Day residents of Kadikeui, a suburb of Constantinople, found that the ferry boat which usually conveyed them to Galata would not run. Something was wrong with the engines. The crowd which had collected on the landing stage, however, could not be content with such a simple explanation. One or two persons, blessed with the eye of faith, averred that they could see Allied soldiers disembarking at Seraglio Point. Forthwith it was assumed that the Allies were landing troops on the bridge between Galata and Stamboul. Half an hour sufficed to prove that this could not be correct. Then a Nationalist orator came along and assured everybody that he had the correct explanation. The patriotic employés of the ferry company had gone on strike as a protest against the scandalous language used by Mr. Lloyd George about Turkey. This story held the field until a Greek sailor appeared on the scene. He had seen a great Turkish official arrested for an attempt to blow up a British general with dynamite. The arrest had been made by Sherlock Holmes, a wonderful man, who, as they could see by the cinematograph pictures, had "just to put his nose in the air to smell out evil-doers." The story spread like wildfire, and to-day many inhabitants of Constantinople are convinced that Sherlock is at work among the minarets.

IMPERIAL PREFERENCE IN JAMAICA.

STATE LIQUOR CONTROL.

A Reuter's telegram from Kingston, Jamaica, says:—The speech of His Excellency Sir Leslie Probyn, K.C.M.G., Governor of Jamaica, delivered at the opening of the Legislative Council contains the following, among other propositions:—The reduction by one-half of the duty on Empire-produced cotton and woollen goods; the raising of specific duties and the limitation of the free list to Empire-produced goods, to make up for shortage of revenue caused by reduced duties; the repeal of the duty on naphtha and gasolene; an increased property rate, and a surtax on licences; excise on sugar, arranged according to price; the floating of a loan of £3,000,000, the finances of the colony to be manipulated with this in view; State control of the liquor trade; the setting-up of a department for the prevention of "profiteering," and to encourage production.

COURT CIRCULAR.

VICEREGAL LODGE, DUBLIN.

TUESDAY.

Lady Milbanke, Sir John Milbanke, Captain Godfrey Heseltine, the Hon. Bruce Ogilvie, and Mr. Frank Spicer left the Lodge to-day.

IRISH BANKS AND INVESTMENTS.

A statement appeared in the Daily Mail of yesterday to the effect that the English banks had come to an arrangement by which no money would be advanced for the purpose of investment in concerns which were not, from a commercial point of view, sound and likely to give promise of appreciable prospects. Inquiries were made in Dublin as to whether the Irish banks had come to a like arrangement. They elicited the information that at present, at all events, no such agreement has been arrived at, and that so far none is in contemplation.

EDINBURGH ELECTION.

In North and South Edinburgh all the candidates were about the constituencies early yesterday, mainly engaged in making a personal canvass.

Sir William Sutherland, formerly secretary to the Premier, has arrived in Edinburgh, and is taking a large part in organising the Coalition campaign. He is acting in conjunction with Sir George Younger. The greatest activity is now being displayed by the supporters of the rival parties.

In a letter supporting Mr. Runciman, Viscount Grey says—"Without independent criticism in Parliament all government is likely to deteriorate and confidence in constitutional methods is undermined. This is our present danger, and it is real and serious. If the House of Commons becomes nothing but the creature and instrument of the Government, it ceases to be the greatest guardian of personal liberty and a bulwark against revolution and violence."

COUNTY COURT JUDGE DROMGOOLE.

The Dublin Gazette publishes an Order made by the Lord Lieutenant and Privy Council of Ireland appointing Mr. Charles Dromgoole, K.C., County Court Judge of the County Kerry, to the County Court Judgeship of the Counties of Carlow, Kildare, Wexford, and Wicklow.

ORDER OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

Mr. Henry William Farrell, Barrister-at-Law, has been appointed a member of the Order of the British Empire, for his services in the Department of His Majesty's Procurator-General, where he assisted in preparing evidence for Prize Court cases.

Captain G. Drummond Fish, late of the Embarkation Staff, North Wall, the well-known artist, son-in-law of Lady Eva Heathcote, received the M.B.E. from the King at the recent Investiture at Buckingham Palace.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
TUESDAY NIGHT.

The French have acted with considerable promptitude, and the occupation of several German towns followed immediately upon the intimation that such a course of action would be taken. Last night it was rumoured that the French Government was to have a free hand in this matter, but to-day it is said that the Allies are not wholly agreed with regard to the situation. This is probably correct, since a meeting of the Supreme Council has been hurriedly called in Paris. It is understood that the French have moved 100,000 men, while the German troops who have entered the Ruhr district number about 75,000.

Opinions as to the French coup differ very much in accordance with the estimates formed of Germany's powers of recuperation. Some people believe that Germany is "down and out" and will not be an aggressive force in Europe until at least half a century has elapsed, and they are inclined to think that France might have exercised greater patience and have left the Germans to deal with the "Reds" in the Ruhr Valley, who are regarded as a more immediate menace to civilisation than the discredited Junkers.

But there are others—and I think a larger number—who share the view of the French that the German Imperialists are not yet done with, and that on no account must a German army be allowed to establish itself in the neutral zone until the Articles of the Peace Treaty have been carried out to the letter. They believe that the "red peril" has been purposely exaggerated, and that under cover of suppressing it the German Army has been endeavouring to secure a position from which it could not be evicted without grave difficulty.

It is easy for financial pundits, both here and in the United States, to remind France that her present economic plight is in part due to the fact that she lived almost entirely on borrowed money during the war and did not tax herself to meet at least a portion of her increased expenditure. They forget that, whereas in America the normal production of wealth was enormously stimulated and in these islands was not seriously curtailed, France sent all her able-bodied males into the firing line, and, in addition, lost the income derived from some of her richest departments. No wonder that she is determined, whatever her Allies may say, not to loosen her grip on her creditor's throat until he has paid up at least a portion of her just dues.

Frankfort-on-the-Main has had previous experiences of a French occupation. During the French Revolution it had twice to submit to forced levies by the troops of the Republic. In 1792 General Custine exacted two million gulden from the inhabitants, and four years later Kleber levied a further toll of eight million francs. But its most notable association with French history dates from 1871, when at the Swan Hotel Prince Bismarck and Jules Favre signed the Treaty which concluded the Franco-German War. There must have been a peculiar satisfaction to General Degoutte and his troops in entering as conquerors the city where the document which tore from France her two fair provinces was signed and sealed.

Germany is supposed to have no aeroplanes for fighting purposes, and under the terms of the Peace Treaty she had to surrender all her war planes. Yet in the recent fighting in the Ruhr district she has lost two or three of her noted war aviators, while it is actually announced that one flying squadron participated in the fighting. That Germany should still be making use of these aerial forces cannot be anything but disquieting to France.

The anniversary of one of the most splendid exploits of the war is to be kept on St. George's Day, when the survivors of the Zeebrugge raid will meet at a dinner. This dinner is to take place annually, and the heroes who will participate are looking forward to the opening one with keen interest. It is understood that the proceedings will be a little out of the common.

It is fully expected that the Bishop of St. Asaph will be elected the first Archbishop of Wales to-morrow, for he is the father of the Welsh Episcopal Bench, having been consecrated some thirty years ago. He is a Welshman born and educated, and the author of many works on his native Church. He was one of the great opponents, in 1906, to the Education Bill, and led a procession through the streets of London as a protest against the Disestablishment of the Church in Wales. Dr. Edwards is a fluent Welsh speaker.

The re-election of Sir Hamar Greenwood is virtually assured, since he has been chosen by the Sunderland Liberal Association, and will not be opposed by the Conservative Association. The Labour Party have not yet decided upon their action, but probably in the circumstances they will not put up a candidate. With the united Liberal and Unionist vote Sir Hamar would sweep the board.

The Independent Labour Party Conference at Glasgow decided to-day to withdraw from the Geneva International Socialist Congress, but rejected a proposal to affiliate immediately with the Moscow International. There are three so-called "Internationals" to one or other of which Socialist bodies profess attachment. The first expired after the Germans had conquered France in the last century. It was followed by the Geneva Congress, which was almost destroyed during the late war. The third "International" is the Bolshevist gathering at Moscow. This, however, is unlikely to appeal to British Socialists.

When Mr. Mallaby-Deeley started his cheap clothing enterprise a good many friends of mine expressed the hope that it would have the effect of bringing down the prices of the regular tailors, and decided to postpone ordering their summer suits for a few weeks. One of them told me to-day of his experiences. "I was almost in rags," he said, "so I plucked up courage to visit my old 'snip' in Savile row. He had a very long face when I asked him about prices. His workmen, it seems, had just presented him—at the point of the scissors, as it were—with a demand for a 50 per cent. increase in wages, and he had to concede them 25 per cent. Cloth, too, had gone up again. He was deeply sorry, but he would have to charge me eleven guineas for a jacket and waistcoat, five guineas for a pair of trousers, and sixteen guineas for a light overcoat. Having a weak heart, I dared not inquire the cost of a dress suit, but left hurriedly."

The rose gardens of Bulgaria used to be famous for the great quantities of attar of roses produced. It is said that the attar is no longer so valuable, and the production is not a paying one. Consequently the rose gardens are being dug up, and the queen of flowers is being supplanted by "Lady Nicotine," since tobacco is expected to prove more remunerative. I wonder what has taken the place of attar of roses in the manufacture of perfumes, of which it used to form such a large constituent. Probably a chemical has been discovered as a substitute.

LOCAL TAXATION.

IRISH RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURE.

A White Paper issued yesterday deals with the Local Taxation (Ireland) Account, showing the total payments into and out of the Account for the financial year 1918-1919.

The receipts for the year amounted to £1,564,560 19s. 10d., including a balance from the preceding year of £62,585 2s. 3d. The Exchequer contribution under the Land Purchase (Ireland) Act, 1891, to the Guarantee Fund was £40,000. The Agricultural Grant under the Local Government (Ireland) Act, 1898, to the Guarantee Fund was £727,655. The grant for an equivalent of local taxation licence duties was £211,859 3s. 7d., together with an annual sum of £79,000. Payments under Customs and Excise duties brought from the Exchequer £124,566 15s. 5d.; estate duties, £244,644 19s. 3d., this amount being for two years; motor car licence duties, £1,445 5s. 1d.; repayments of advances, £72,385 16s. 10d.; and Exchequer contribution for interests on deposit account, £418 17s. 5d.

EXPENDITURE.

The expenditure shows that the Exchequer contribution under the Land Purchase Act, 1891, was £40,000—£30,811 11s. 1d. went to the Commissioners of Public Works in reduction of balances of loans due by Rural District Councils, the six county boroughs had £3,188 8s. 11d., and the Local Government Board £6,000. The agricultural grant of £727,655 went to the County Councils. The grant of £290,659 3s. 7d. under the Local Government Act was distributed as follows:—County Councils, medical and educational expenditure, £77,895 7s. 1d.; Local Government Board pharmacist, £111 3s. 4d.; salaries of sanitary officers, £16,281 11s. 6d.; accommodation of lunatic poor, £183,079 14s. 3d.; excess of railway or harbour charges, £13,491 7s. 5d.

The sums derived from the Customs and Excise duties were divided between the Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction and the Intermediate Education Board, £78,000 going to the former and £46,566 15s. 5d. to the latter. The estates duties payments of £74,303 10s. 5d. in 1917-1918 and of £177,541 8s. 10d. in 1918-1919 were divided among the County Councils, the Urban District Councils, and the Department of Agriculture. The motor car licence duties also went to the County Councils. Advances during the year amounted to £56,344 0s. 8d., leaving a balance to be carried forward of £71,845 15s. 10d.

SOCIAL SERVICE.

FIRST CONFERENCE OF NATIONAL COUNCIL.

Four hundred delegates from all quarters of the British Isles are attending the first Conference of the National Council of Social Service at Oxford this week. They represent both statutory and voluntary agencies.

In an address of welcome at the preliminary meeting in Balliol College Hall last night, the Master of Balliol said that the University of Oxford had long had sympathy with convergent mass of movements which the Conference represented. More than ever in recent years Oxford had been the centre of thought and interest on social problems, especially so since men were back from the war. Those men represented a wonderful promise for the immediate future of the country. Nothing was more striking than the zeal which they brought to practical solution of social questions.

Professor W. G. S. Adams, Chairman of the Council, said that the Council was born of experience. It had risen out of the need of the times for the establishment of a bright social order. They had to deal with problems not only of town, but of country; not only housing and health, but education and leisure. Leisure was just as much a part of the field of social service as the other. Co-operation between the State and voluntary agencies was absolutely essential.

The Conference meets to-day and on tomorrow (Thursday) in the Sheldonian Theatre.

THE GAIETY THEATRE.

"THE MIKADO."

There was another packed house at the Gaiety last night, when "The Mikado" was staged by the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company. Although not by any means the best, this is easily the most popular of the series, and its appeal is perennial. There was an excellent cast, and the orchestra was led with great skill and ability. Mr. Lytton, as usual, was the mainstay of the piece. His make-up was remarkable, and although we had seen him in "The Gondoliers" the night before, we were unable to recognise him and were forced to make inquiries. The part of Koko suits him to perfection. His interpretation, from the lightness of his gestures to the flexibility of his great toe, could hardly be improved, and his antics kept an enthusiastic audience in roars of laughter. Mr. Sheffield as Pooh-Bah was equally excellent. He entered into the spirit of the part with dignity and zest, and his pompous absurdities were uproariously applauded. Mr. Oldham deepened the impression which he made on Monday night. Recently demobilised from the Army, he is a young man with a future, and his delightful singing of "Nanki-Poo" was a musical and artistic treat. We did not like Miss Cecil quite so much as Yum-Yum as we liked her in "The Gondoliers." Her voice is sweet, but she was inclined at times to sing slightly out of tune. She is a charming actress, and with experience should develop into a first-class artist. Miss Ferguson as Pitti-Sing had a small part, but she sang and played it with grace and elegance. She was delightfully dainty throughout, and in the scenes with Koko and Pooh-Bah her acting reached a very high standard. Miss Ray had not much to do as Peep-bo, but she did it well, and Mr. Sydney Granville made the most of the thankless rôle of Pish-Tush. The Mikado (Mr. Hobbs) was distinctly original in his singing of his opening songs, but we felt that the tempo of "The punishment fit the crime" song might have been a little more lively. It was inclined to drag. Miss Lewis gave a fine interpretation of Katisha. This is possibly the most difficult part in all the operas, because Gilbert has introduced into it an element of real tragedy which will not be hidden beneath the motley of exquisite buffoonery in which "The Mikado" is clad. Miss Lewis was restrained and forcible at once and her work towards the end of the first act, culminating in the dramatic climax, was really excellent. The ensemble work was much better than it was in "The Gondoliers," and the quartets and part songs were charmingly sung. Mr. Sheffield was particularly good in ensemble singing, and Mr. Oldham's work never fell from a high level of cultured elegance. On the whole, the performance was excellent, and was well worthy of the vociferous reception with which it was rewarded. The producer's task was thoroughly done, and the grouping secured the maximum effect. This afternoon "Iolanthe," to-night "Patience."

MR. VICTOR LOVE'S RECITAL.

Mr. H. Victor Love, Mus.B., T.C.D., gave one of his recitals to an appreciative audience at the Molesworth Hall, Dublin, last night. The programme was an ambitious one, and included Liszt's pianoforte arrangement of Bach's Organ Prelude and Fugue in A minor, with which Mr. Love opened the recital. Mr. Love seemed to show some diffidence here, but a generous measure of applause put the pianist completely at his ease, and in Beethoven's Sonata in C minor, Op. III., he proved himself fully in sympathy with the varying humours of Beethoven as well as a master of the instrument, for no item in the programme called for greater endurance. Perhaps, however, Mr. Love was at his best in Chopin's Ballade in G minor, but he played the tuneful Etude in G flat with a lightness of touch which appealed to the audience by reason of its direct contrast to the "heavy" passages preceding it. The second half of the programme included Debussy's "Reflets dans l'Eau" and Cyril Scott's "Chimes," both well known to the audience as well as to Mr. Love. "Romance" is a haunting melody with firmer passages of Mr. Love's own composition, in which the pianist gives full expression to his own tastes, and it was well received by a critical audience. Ravel's "Jeux d'Eau" is a lightly-running fragment calling for no little technique, which was agreeably played. But Liszt's "Rhapsodie Hongroise" is the kind of music in which Mr. Love was most appreciated. Grave and gay, light and shade, the performer's undoubted talent had full scope.

The recital proved a most enjoyable one. Mr. Love has none of those affected mannerisms which are inclined to irritate true music lovers, who will look forward to his further recitals with pleasure.

MINISTRY OF TRANSPORT AND WEXFORD HARBOUR.

A deputation, consisting of Alderman R. Corish, Mayor of Wexford; Messrs. J. Bolger, J.P., Chairman of the Wexford County Council; James J. Stafford, Chairman Wexford Harbour Commissioners; W. J. Dollar, James Billington, and Alderman James Sinnott, J.P., waited on Mr. H. G. Burgess, Irish Minister of Transport, in furtherance of the project to obtain State aid for the development of the Wexford port.

Mr. Stafford, reporting to the Harbour Board, stated that the deputation had been very favourably received, and he had hopes that financial assistance would be forthcoming.

An engineer from the Ministry of Transport visited Wexford yesterday for the purpose of inspecting the harbour.

CRUISER'S SEARCHLIGHT DISPLAY AT KINGSTOWN.

The cruiser in Kingstown Harbour last evening gave a searchlight display. It was watched with general interest. The great brilliance of the flashes vividly illuminated the darkest and furthest parts of the township.

PORTOBELLO SHOOTING AFFAIR.

THE RESUMED INQUEST.

EVIDENCE FOR THE MILITARY.

Dr. Louis A. Byrne, Dublin City Coroner, resumed the inquest in the Morgue yesterday into the circumstances of the death of Michael Cullen, van driver, aged 24 years, and Margaret Hendrick, domestic servant, aged 19 years, who were shot at Portobello on the night of the 22nd ultimo during a disturbance on the streets.

The Lord Mayor, Alderman L. O'Neill, sat beside the Coroner.

Mr. S. L. Porter (instructed by Messrs. James O'Connor and Co.) attended on behalf of the next-of-kin. Mr. Wylie, K.C., and Mr. H. Holmes (instructed by the Chief Crown Solicitor) appeared for the Crown. Mr. W. McGrath, K.C. (instructed by Mr. Ignatius Rice, Law Agent), appeared for Dublin Corporation. Messrs. Corrigan and Corrigan, solicitors, held a watching brief on behalf of Francis Wall, the young man who received a bullet wound in the wrist on the night of the shooting.

Lieutenant Gilbert, Berkshire Regiment, gave evidence to the effect that he was present at the first performance at the Theatre Royal, at which about 150 men of the regiment were celebrating the battle of Truffet, in which the regiment took part. At the end of the performance they sang the National Anthem. He next saw the men passing the Bank of Ireland, and he followed them. In Grafton street and St. Stephen's Green they were singing. A crowd, which increased in numbers in Harcourt street, hissed them, and in Richmond street a woman rushed in among the troops, using her fists, and was taken away by some civilians. Sergeant Smith was struck with a stone, and the soldiers had to force the crowd back. The troops were followed towards Portobello Bridge, and stones were thrown and missiles from windows. He heard four or five shots, and saw a soldier taken away wounded. The witness then went to Portobello Barracks, and was afterwards out in an armoured car.

Cross-examined by Mr. McGrath, the witness said that he and two friends followed the troops. He was unarmed. He did not hear the men shouting "Down, Sinn Fein" and "Down de Valera," and he did not think that it could happen without him hearing it. He heard a bang after leaving the theatre, but did not know whence it came. He did not see the soldiers jostling people in Grafton street. They tapped the tramcars with their canes. It was entirely a holiday for the soldiers, who went off as they liked to the theatre. He saw no reason for asking them to restrain themselves, but he tried to get them back to barracks. He did not see why they should not go back singing.

In reply to further questions, witness said that during his seven months in Dublin he had received annoyance from people in the streets, and had been spat at. He saw stones thrown for the first time near South Richmond street. It was absolutely wrong to say that he was a ringleader of the men. A civilian spoke to him, and asked him if he had anything to do with the soldiers, but he did not reply. He spoke to some of the men, and some went to barracks and others remained.

In answer to Mr. Porter, the witness said that he did not see soldiers drinking at the bar of the theatre. He did not see them do anything improper outside but strike tramcars.

THE FINDING OF A BULLET.

George Hutchings, Drummond place, Harold's Cross, stated that on the following morning he picked up a rifle bullet and handed it to Captain Gordon at Portobello Barracks.

Captain Gordon said that the bullet was not the pattern issued by the military.

Lieutenant Hanney, who had also been to the theatre, and was in mufti, stated that while on his way down Lennox street to visit a friend he saw a man standing on the tram line firing five or six revolver shots. Some time afterwards he heard rifle fire from the direction of Portobello Bridge, followed by more revolver shots.

In reply to Mr. McGrath, he said that he did not think that the shots were directed at his men.

Lieutenant Albert Denham, Royal Berks, deposed that after he left the theatre he saw hand-to-hand fighting in Richmond street between soldiers and civilians. Stones were thrown. The civilians numbered between 200 and 300. At the bridge there was a larger crowd, and when the patrol came up stones were thrown at them and revolver shots fired. He saw Lieutenant Dawson on the bridge, and he said to the crowd: "Stop firing, stop throwing, and disperse." There were boohs and hisses from the crowd in reply, and more revolver shots were fired and stones thrown. A short time after he heard rifle fire, which lasted between twenty and thirty seconds.

In reply to Mr. McGrath, the witness said that the shots were fired from the crowd when the cyclist patrol approached the bridge. Before he went on the bridge Lieutenant Dawson ordered his men to fix bayonets. He did not hear the order to fire. He saw no one hit. There were soldiers in the crowd.

To Mr. Porter—There were sixteen men in the patrol, and each fired two shots so far as he knew.

The Coroner—Would you give such an order if you were in the same position? Yes.

Fire on your own men? I would be justified in firing if I were fired at.

In answer to the foreman of the jury, the witness repeated that he would have considered himself justified in firing if he were in Lieutenant Dawson's position. In an insurrection when the military were fired on they would be justified in returning the fire.

The Coroner—Would you describe this as an insurrection? Yes. The soldiers were fired at.

THE FIRING DESCRIBED.

Lieutenant Dawson, Royal Berks, who was in charge of the patrol party, was next called and warned by the Coroner.

Mr. Holmes recommended the witness to give evidence.

The witness said that at 9.45 o'clock he got orders from the adjutant to proceed to Portobello Bridge to rescue the theatre party from a hostile crowd. He was informed that three soldiers had been wounded. He went out with a cycle patrol, comprising fifteen men and a corporal. They were armed with rifles and bayonets. Each man had 60 rounds, making a total of 960 rounds. When the patrol had approached within fifty yards of the bridge two revolver shots were fired at them. There was a large crowd boohing and hissing, and stones were thrown. He shouted to the crowd: "Disperse; stop throwing stones; cease firing." The only answer that he got was boohing and hissing, and more missiles were thrown. He ordered his men to charge with fixed bayonets, but when he saw the dimensions of the crowd he was afraid that his men would lose their rifles and ammunition in a charge. For their own protection he ordered them to fire. He gave the order "Rapid fire." About thirty shots were fired, but he did not see anyone hit. The crowd then dispersed, but at Kelly's corner the soldiers were fired on again. He was about fifty yards from the corner, and he ordered his men to return the fire. He saw no one hit on that occasion either. In Richmond street he saw a civilian lying near the pavement and four other civilians around him. He told them to get the man into a house and do what they could for him. That was before the second firing. After the crowd had been dispersed he patrolled the streets and searched all male civilians. He returned to barracks with the patrol between 11.30 and 12 o'clock, having got orders to do so from the colonel.

Cross-examined by Mr. McGrath, the witness said that all he was told at the barracks was to rescue the theatre party from a hostile crowd. He had been in Portobello Barracks for about nine months, and once during that time in Dame street he was held up and searched coming from the Empire Theatre. There was no harm done to him. People had spat at him too. He had no hostility towards the Irish people. He surmised that the crowd were trying to prevent the soldiers going over the bridge. He saw soldiers in Richmond street and a crowd in front of them. He was told of for this duty a few days before, as trouble was anticipated, but he did not know what the trouble was. He heard about it indirectly.

If it is not an official secret, I ask you from whom you heard it? It is an official secret.

What were the duties entrusted to you? I cannot say anything connected with that subject.

In reply to further questions, the witness said that he was certain that shots were aimed at the patrol. He gave no order except to fire, and said nothing about direction. There were five cartridges in each of the rifles. He could not say who shot the girl.

Mr. McGrath—The man lying near the pavement—have you any doubt that he was shot by the military? I know he was not.

How do you know? The Army bullet has a nickel case, and this bullet was plain lead.

To Mr. Porter—He had a revolver with him on this occasion, but he did not fire it. He reported to his commanding officer in writing of the number of rounds fired.

Mr. Porter asked to see the report, and Mr. Wylie said that it would be supplied.

The witness stated that he did not order ten rounds to be fired, and if it was stated in the House of Commons that he did it was not true. He gave the order to advance before the firing. He complied with the King's Regulations by taking care not to fire on persons not connected with the crowd. He did not fire over the heads of the crowd. There was someone firing in the crowd, but they could not pick him out. The mob was fired on at the bridge and at Kelly's corner after the mob had fired on the soldiers.

To Mr. Holmes, the witness said that his men fired no blank cartridges.

In answer to the Coroner, he said that he had no other course but to fire on the crowd, even though there were soldiers in it, as when they were fired at they had to return the fire.

The inquiry was then adjourned until eleven o'clock on Thursday week.

A Vienna telegram, dated Monday, says:—The State Chancellor, Dr. Kenner, speaking at Bruck, said that the general elections would be held next autumn, when the question of the union or economic arrangement with Germany would ripen.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

THE FRENCH ADVANCE.

The Times, in a leading article to-day, says:—The French have taken the only right course after the issue of such a warning as they had given the Germans. They have carried it out firmly and promptly. Yesterday morning their troops occupied Frankfurt and Darmstadt unopposed. Doubtless, the occupation of the other German towns named in M. Millerand's Note will follow, if it has not been effected already. The German Foreign Office have been informed that the troops will remain until Germany has completely withdrawn the forces she has despatched into the neutral zone. At the same time, the French Prime Minister has taken care to explain in the Chamber that this action has not been inspired by hostility to Germany. It has been undertaken solely to ensure that Germany shall fulfil her obligations under the Treaty, and M. Millerand expressed the hope that normal relations with her would be presently restored. The usual steps for the maintenance of order have been taken in the towns held by General Degoutte, and there is every reason to hope that tranquillity will be undisturbed within their limits. The "sharp surprise" which the step has caused among the inhabitants of Berlin is very wholesome. We trust that it is also felt by the German "militarists," and by their accomplices in the Wilhelmstrasse. Our Special Correspondent in Essen, states, adds The Times, that a British occupation is actually desired by the inhabitants, and we learn from other sources that the Allies would be generally welcomed throughout the Ruhr district. We trust that no such step will be required, but should the conduct of the German Government, or their inability to control General von Watter make it necessary, public opinion in England, we are convinced, will insist that our French friends shall receive the fullest and the heartiest support from their British comrades in the war. There should be no mistake on this point. The English people will not tolerate the creation of any coolness between France and ourselves for lack of a common understanding upon the methods proper for dealing with the situation which Germany has deliberately provoked. All that is needed to make such an understanding firm and lasting is reasonable frankness and good faith in the relations between the two Governments. Should such a coolness arise, the nation will want to know who has been responsible for it, and they will deal with its authors as the reckless folly of such offenders would deserve. They know, whatever autocratic Ministers may think, that now more than ever the whole harvest of the war absolutely depends upon the preservation of the firm friendship between the two great democracies of the West, which five years of struggle and of suffering in a common cause inspired and cemented. It is the most precious result of the war—the result on which all the others depend—and this is quite clear to the "man in the street," from whom, in the last resort, the haughtiest and slipperiest of statesmen derive their power. We notice with extreme wonder, concludes The Times, the statements made from Washington and from Rome that the British, American, and Italian Governments are "standing aside" in this question of the Ruhr, and even that they have no objection to the German advance, provided the troops are withdrawn when order has been restored. We do not know what the Italian Government may or may not have decided, and we know that, unhappily, America is reverting more and more to her old attitude of isolation until, at any rate, the elections are over. But in the enforcement of the Treaty there can be no "standing aside" for England from her French Ally. We trust that no responsible statesman in this country has been ill-advised enough to use language which could be perverted into a suggestion that we ever dreamed of such a course.

MR. N. CHAMBERLAIN AND THE IRISH BILL.

Mr. N. Chamberlain, Coalition Unionist M.P. for the Ladywood Division of Birmingham, in a letter to The Times on the Irish Bill, written from Paris, states:—The criticism that this is a bill for the partition of Ireland is fairly met by the retort that it only recognises an already existing cleavage. But ultimately the bill will stand or fall according to its success in healing the fissure and leading towards the union of the Irish nation. The two vital points, he adds, are the constitution of the Ulster Province and finance. I should be glad to see the nine-county system adopted, not so much because it would help to render the proposals more acceptable to the Southern Unionists, but because it seems to me that the administration of the larger and less homogeneous area must be a more favourable preparation for ultimate union than that of a self-contained and clearly defined unit. The fears of Ulstermen lest they should be forced into union against their will must be met by some safeguard or other, but it ought not to be necessary in doing so to jeopardise the prospects of the future. As to finance, I think that control of Customs and Excise should be given to the united Parliament automatically as soon as it is constituted. Finally, writes Mr. N. Chamberlain, I should like to see further administrative powers given to the Council at once. The more it has to do, the more constantly its members have to work together, the sooner will they be ready for the completer harmony and co-operation which will be necessary to bring into existence a united Parliament.

IRISHWOMEN ROUTED BY AMERICANS.

The New York Correspondent of The Times, in a message dated yesterday, says:—Irishwomen who were carrying banners with insulting legends near the British Embassy at Washington were attacked and put to rout by Miss Sophie Stanton, grand-daughter of Abraham Lincoln's Secretary of War, and her friend, Mrs. Hattie Arkin, of New York, who succeeded in destroying some of the banners. These ladies were arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, but were released on their providing bail of £5 each. Meanwhile it was discovered that the banner-bearers could be proceeded against under an old Statute, which made it felony to insult the diplomatic representative of a foreign Power. Accordingly the police arrested Miss Mollie Carrol, an actress, lately appearing in "The Better 'Ole," and Mrs. Henry Walker, of Astoria, Long Island. They were, however, released with a warning. The leaders' picketing squad declare their intention of resuming operations in front of the Embassy, but refuse to say when.

THE HOUSING BONDS SCHEME.

The Times, commenting editorially upon the forthcoming great propaganda campaign to induce the public to take up local housing bonds, says:—We think the Government are on right lines in endeavouring to raise money for housing locally where possible, instead of making the enterprise a national charge. Mr. Chamberlain's Budget cannot possibly stand any further huge additions. The Government have already agreed to assist local housing schemes by a substantial annual subsidy, representing the difference between the rent actually charged and an economic rent, less the help derived from the penny rate. It is estimated that this promised subsidy, which will come out of the national taxes, will eventually involve an annual Budget charge of £20,000,000 for an undisclosed period. From past experience of the cost of subsidies, we should say that the estimate is too low, but it very much depends upon whether Dr. Addison, the Minister of Health, continues his wise policy of insisting that from the outset the rents charged shall be as nearly economic as circumstances permit. Many local authorities are so gratified by the prospect of a subsidy that they are proposing to charge extremely low rents, and are looking to the Government to make up the difference, and we regret that this is especially the case in areas where Labour is largely represented on the local authorities. It is easy to see that "low rents for Council houses" might quickly become a favourite cry at elections to local bodies, unless the Ministry of Health sternly resists these tendencies from the beginning.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS UNION.

The Times publishes to-day a letter signed by Lord Grey, Mr. Lloyd George, Lord Beatty, Mr. Asquith, Lord Robert Cecil, and Mr. J. R. Clynes, appealing for funds for the carrying-on of the educational work of the League of Nations Union. The letter states:—Our primary object is to keep fresh in the minds of the people of this country the spirit and ideals which underlie the Covenant of the League. To do this the Union must undertake a very extensive educational campaign. We feel in this behalf that the Union has already achieved something, for it has organised some hundreds of meetings in support of the League; it has created nearly 200 branches of the Union; it publishes two League of Nations periodicals, several booklets, and many pamphlets; it is now engaged upon educational text books, and we hope before long it will have study circles for adults in full swing, and will be organising junior branches and taking a prominent part in the education of the children of to-day, and of the future. To the scope of its activities there is only one limitation—money. Many individuals have been most generous, but we feel now that we are getting beyond the help of private generosity. To do the work effectively we need something in the neighbourhood of a million pounds, and that necessitates a national campaign for funds. That is why we are trespassing upon the hospitality of your columns with this letter of appeal. The sum named sounds a large one, but it is, indeed, the bare cost of four hours of the late war. Viewed in this way it is not a great deal to provide as an insurance against another war. For if Great Britain does not support the League with all her might and resources (and this depends solely upon the will of the people), the League itself will assuredly wither and die, and if the League should die, God help our children, for no human agency can save them from calamities to which the late war will appear as the merest trifle.

RUHR CRISIS.

FRANCE TAKES ACTION.

TROOPS ENTER FRANKFORT AND DARMSTADT.

STATEMENT FOR FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS.

The following official communiqué was issued in Paris last evening:—The movement of troops in Frankfort and Darmstadt began in the early hours of this morning (April 6). The Thirtieth Army Corps, which carried out the operation, met with no resistance. The encircling of both towns and the occupation of the strategic points in the circle were completed by 11 o'clock. Our cavalry entered during the afternoon Hanau, which had previously been evacuated by the German troops. A German battalion of security police was surprised in its barracks at Frankfort and disarmed.

A Paris telegram, dated Tuesday, transmits a message from Mayence, which says—The French troops entered Frankfort at five o'clock this morning. As the only public security, the police were left in the town. Everything passed off like an ordinary march. French troops entered Darmstadt also at five o'clock this morning. The Reichswehr troops left the town at midnight to avoid contact with the French troops. The German troops are to be ten kilometres away by this morning.

Numerous concentrations of troops are also in progress. Thus, there is one Division stationed at Munster, 75 kilometres from the Rhine, comprising 14 battalions of infantry, 4 squadrons of cavalry, and 13 batteries. This Division has begun to enter the forbidden zone 50 kilometres from the Rhine.

A later telegram from Paris says:—It was at 5.25 this morning that the French tanks entered Frankfort, followed by a battalion of Fusiliers and a company of Engineers. These troops occupied strategic positions of importance, including the railway station, where half a dozen tanks were stationed; the barracks, the police headquarters, and the main roads into the city. A battalion of Chasseurs later arrived at the station. The occupation took place without incident.

According to a Berlin telegram, dated Tuesday, a Ruhr message says:—Mulheim, in the Ruhr region, was occupied by regular troops yesterday without any fighting. The remnants of the Red Army are collecting at Essen, but it is to be expected that the town will be occupied to-day. News has reached here that a small French detachment occupied Darmstadt Railway Station at four o'clock this morning.

The German Foreign Office to-day, says a Berlin telegram, dated Tuesday, received a Note from the French Government, saying that, as the German Government had not complied with its demand to withdraw the German troops from the Ruhr region, it has been compelled to occupy Frankfort, Darmstadt, Hanau, and Duisburg. The Note declared that the occupation will be maintained until Germany has completely withdrawn her troops from the Ruhr region.

THE ALLIES AND THE FRENCH MOVE.

Up to noon to-day, says a Paris telegram dated Tuesday, the French Government had not received any reply from Great Britain or Italy to its notification of the occupation of the four German towns. Mr. Wallace, American Ambassador to France, had an interview with M. Millerand to-day, but the subject of the discussion is not known.

A Washington message says:—The French Ambassador here on Monday presented to Mr. Colby, Secretary of State, a Note from the French Government, requesting the American Government to express its opinion on the occupation by the French troops of five German towns. It is stated in official circles here that no statement has yet been made, and that none is likely to be made for the present. The position of the United States is that of an interested spectator.

FRENCH STATEMENT.

Reuter says:—France has requested her representatives abroad to explain the attitude she has adopted towards the German Government as a protest against the unauthorised despatch of German troops to Ruhr. The French Government, it is stated, has not been actuated by any hostility to Germany. As M. Millerand stated in the Chamber, it was hoped that it would be possible for France speedily to renew normal relations with Germany by means of economic agreements at any suitable moment. Any sincere movement in this direction which may be made will be assured of a favourable reception by the French Government. The statement adds—The French Government does not fail to realise the difficulties with which the Berlin Government is confronted, and, as it has repeatedly indicated, will not neglect to bear this aspect in mind. But the German Government, notwithstanding the repeated explanation of our policy, has yielded to the pressure of the military party, and has not hesitated to infringe the most imperative and solemn stipulations of the Treaty of Versailles. The facts are—The first request for authorisation to send supplementary German troops to Ruhr was made by the military authorities on March 15th. Immediately after the insurrectionary movement it was renewed from Berlin on March 17th on behalf of the legitimate Government by Herr Hamel, Under Secretary of State, who remained in Berlin with the consent, at least tacit, of the rebel government. All the information received from the Allied Missions recently shows the intervention of the German troops in Ruhr as not to be necessitated by the present situation, and as involving the most serious risk both to the security of the population and the coalfields. Had the Disarmament Clauses of the Treaty been carried out by the German Government, the latter would not have been confronted in Berlin on March 13th with insurrectionary troops, who should have been discharged. The French Government, in their statement, explaining France's attitude towards Germany and Ruhr, say—Had the Disarmament Clauses of the Treaty been carried out the Red Army would not have had access to stocks of arms and munitions, which should have been handed over to be destroyed. The statement proceeds—Articles 42 and 44 are such indispensable safeguards for France that the Anglo-Franco-American guarantee Pact was provided for a casus fœderis in the event of the provisions of the Treaty not being adequate for our protection. The situation which has just been created by the abrupt offensive of the German troops in the Ruhr coalfields has compelled the French Government to adopt military measures, the carrying out of which cannot be varied. The only object of these measures is to induce Germany to respect the Treaty. The measures are of a purely precautionary nature.

TWO PROCLAMATIONS.

The Paris Matin reprints two proclamations issued by General Degoutte—one to the population of the towns already occupied and the other to the inhabitants of the towns about to be occupied by French troops. The proclamations outline the measures to be taken, in particular the declaration of a state of siege in the regions of Frankfort, Darmstadt, and Duisburg; the details of the control to be exercised by the French over the German authorities in the public services in the Wiesbaden district; they also announce that traffic between nine at night and five in the morning is forbidden. Further measures indicated are—The prohibition of traffic between the newly-occupied zone and the rest of Germany, except for the transport of food; the establishment of a postal censorship, the suspension of newspapers, the taking over of the telephones, the telegraphs, and the military dépôts.

Commenting on the French move in the Ruhr Basin, M. Marcel Hutin, in the Echo de Paris, says that he asked M. Millerand if the British Government would come round to the French point of view, and that the Premier replied—"Great Britain has been victorious; so has France. I am confident all will end well." In the Eclair a French Admiral asks Britain to support France's move with a powerful British Fleet.

A Paris telegram, dated Tuesday, says—Herr Göppert, Head of the German Peace Delegation, again visited the Ministry for Foreign Affairs yesterday, reiterating his assurances with regard to the character of the German operations in the Ruhr district, which German circles declare will now end in a week. Far from evacuating the neutral zone, however, the Reichswehr troops are continuing a violent struggle with the workmen's troops in the industrial region.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

Stock markets re-opened after the holidays in a fairly confident manner, says The Times, but the accumulation of orders was found to be disappointingly small, and in the absence of sustained support prices soon began to dwindle. The lack of interest was attributed to the news from Ireland and Germany, while the weakness of the French exchange in the afternoon was also an adverse factor, as it overshadowed the favourable movement in the New York exchange. Gilt-edged securities failed to maintain an early show of firmness, but Home Railway Stocks were a slightly better market. Oil Shares, notwithstanding a partial rally in the later dealings, closed appreciably lower on balance.

HOW THE CARETAKERS WERE TREATED.

With regard to the burning of police barracks and huts in Ireland on Saturday night and Sunday morning, Mrs. Lynch, the wife of a police constable, who was living in the abandoned station at Stoneyford, Co. Westmeath, with her four children, related her experiences yesterday to a Correspondent. She stated that there were between twenty and thirty armed and disguised men on the road outside the barrack. She and the children were roused from sleep by a loud hammering on the door about two o'clock on Sunday morning. She asked what they wanted, speaking from the window, and they replied that they "came to blow up the barrack," and ordered her and the children out at once if they did not want to be blown up also. She screamed and asked for time to dress herself and the children, but the men kept urging her to come out at once, pointing the revolvers at her as they spoke, and she had only time to half-dress herself and her children. When she opened the door, she was covered with about ten revolvers, and the men rushed into her bedroom and upstairs. They carried tins of petrol and paraffin oil; also turf and hay, and advised her to take out all that she could of her property, while they completed preparations for the blowing up. She and the children had to go out then to the road. It was very cold, especially in their half-dressed condition. She went to the man who seemed to be the leader, and asked him to provide shelter. He knocked at the door of the only house on the road, at the place which is nearly opposite the barracks, and told the people to take her and the children in. He ordered them then to close the door, and to keep it closed, saying that if they did not they would all be shot. Inside at the fire was a young man who had been held up by the raiders as he passed the road. The men outside made the people close up the windows and cover them. In about five minutes they heard a terrible explosion, and believed that the barracks had been blown up. During the whole time there was a guard of the raiders who marched up and down. At daylight the door of the house was opened, and they then saw the barrack in flames, and the out-offices, hay, etc., burning. Most of her property was destroyed. The men got off in motor cars.

The Ballinalee Barrack, County Longford, was occupied by Mrs. Hamilton, a policeman's wife. She was aroused by a loud rapping at 12 o'clock by a crowd of men in disguise. She was told to clear out, as the building was required. She resented the intrusion, and was informed that the less trouble that she created the better for herself. The raiding party then removed the furniture and bedding into a vacant house in the village, and fired the barracks with paraffin and other oil. The flames quickly spread. The party warned Mrs. Hamilton to remain inside for two hours.

In Larkfield, in the same county, a dozen youths, who were in no way disguised, aroused the occupants of a shop just before the barrack was burned, and demanded a barrel of oil.

TIPPERARY WRECKERS.

Our Thurles Correspondent, in describing the destruction of the barrack in Moyne village by one hundred armed men, some of whom wore masks, says that all the roads were held by armed men, and people travelling that way were placed under arrest until the work of demolition was completed. About 10 p.m. a whistle was blown, and immediately a number of masked men dashed towards the barrack from all directions, carrying in their hands sledges, saws, hatchets, and pickaxes. They smashed in the doors and windows, cut away the stairs and upper storey, stripped off the roof, and left the whole place in wreck inside of half an hour. Then they marched off in military style. Lights in adjoining houses were ordered to be put out by men, at the point of the revolver.

THE RATEPAYERS' BILL.

A claim for £2,000 has been lodged by Mr. Sheil, the landlord, for the destruction of Croghan (Co. Roscommon) Barrack on Saturday night.

For the Clogher Barrack a claim for £1,500 has been lodged by The MacDermot, Coolavin.

THE BURNINGS CONDEMNED.

The Enniskillen police have made three arrests in connection with the burning of Letterbreen Barracks. They got every assistance from the country people.

At the Enniskillen Rural Council on Tuesday, the Earl of Belmore in the chair, Mr. F. R. Carson moved that they condemn the blackguardly acts of irresponsible persons in destroying private property in the country. It was a terrible state of affairs, he said, the way in which private property was being destroyed in the country, and it behoved every loyal citizen to do what he could to prevent it.

Mr. Joseph Geddis seconded. He was very sorry to think that his fellow-countrymen would be guilty of such heinous offences, which would only heap a mass of costs upon the ratepayers. These acts of blackguardism would benefit no one. They would only fleece the ratepayers of the County Fermanagh. And it did seem strange that in a so-called Christian country men would deliberately go and set fire to houses, so that the ratepayers would have to pay for it. He blamed the Government, as they had failed to properly protect the property of the country.

Mr. Owens (N.) said that he agreed with Mr. Geddis when he declared that the Government were to blame for the state of the country at present. He was against all this kind of work that was going on, but he blamed the Government for it, as they had an opportunity a few years ago of settling peaceably the Irish question, and now they were splitting up the country into two to please a few perverted individuals, and cut Ulster off from Ireland.

Mr. W. J. Brown said that he thought that the only party innocent of the whole disturbances was the Government. The Government were doing their best to rule the country according to constitutional laws. The politicians were the cause of all the turmoil and malicious injuries. The very men sent to keep the peace were hardly allowed to walk the roads quietly. It was the blackguardly acts of Sinn Feiners that was the cause of all the outrages in this country.

Mr. E. Corrigan (S.F.) agreed with the other speakers in their denunciation of the Government, which he held responsible. It had been insinuated at that Council that the Sinn Feiners had committed those deeds. That was not fair, and from the way things would appear elsewhere the Government knew more than they allowed the people to know. The Government could not make as good a case to clear themselves as the Sinn Feiners.

The resolution was then put to the meeting and passed.

SIR NEVIL MACREADY.

It is officially announced that Sir Nevil Macready, the new Commander-in-Chief in Ireland, has not yet left London. He was at Scotland Yard yesterday attending to his usual duties.

THE BURNING OF INCOME TAX OFFICES.

PROBABLE EFFECT ON DEPARTMENT'S WORK.

With reference to the recent fires in branches of the Income Tax Department in Dublin, a gentlemen who is thoroughly acquainted with the work carried on in these offices states that the result of the fires will probably mean a stoppage of the work for some months, and whether it will be possible to make up for the information which has been lost it is now impossible to say.

What has occurred will involve considerable embarrassment to the working of the department, and the getting out of such details as will be necessary to the settlement of the demands already made for the payment of income tax. Many collectors find that every record that they possessed, of duty paid, and taxes paid and payable, has gone; so that much additional work will be involved in making up for the loss which has resulted from the destruction of these documents.

There are 18 offices in Ireland—three in Belfast, two in Cork, two in Limerick, one in Galway, one in Newry, one in Sligo, one in Tralee, and seven in Dublin.

In addition to these offices there are a large number of collectors throughout the country.

The office of the Collector of Customs and Excise at Cork has been completely destroyed, and a large force of military were on guard on Monday evening at the Cork Custom House, in consequence of Saturday night's burnings.

LAND HUNGER IN THE WEST.

A MENACING AGITATION.

CATTLE-DRIVING AND GRAVE-DIGGING.

Our Roscommon Correspondent writes:—The agitation for the splitting-up of the grass lands is growing in the Ballinasloe district. Cattle drives, the knocking down of walls, the breaking of gates, and the digging of graves are some of the methods adopted to enforce the surrender of land held on the eleven months' system. At eight o'clock on Monday evening a number of men who are looking for plots marched to the lands of some local people and dug graves there. Saturday in the town of Ballinasloe resembled a big fair day. Men from the country for ten miles around attended to meet the owners of land, and after negotiations agreements were reached in some cases.

On Saturday evening a deputation of tenants waited on Mr. W. G. Talbot, H.M.L., and handed him a written request to give up certain grass lands in his possession. Mr. Talbot handed back the document to the deputation, stating that he could not read it.

On Monday 400 men and boys and some women cleared the lands of Clooncah and Clooruff of all the stock. The crowd also took possession of ploughs and other implements, levelled the gates and did other damage. They subsequently called on Mr. Talbot's steward and gave him formal notice to give up possession of the house in which he resides. Lands occupied by a landholder near Ballygar were also "driven," and graves were dug there.

EXCITEMENT NEAR TUAM.

AGITATORS FLEE BEFORE THE MILITARY

Exciting scenes were witnessed at Castlegrove, Tuam, on Thursday, when a large crowd assembled on the lands of Mr. T. Lewin, and, going to the dwelling-house, broke the doors and windows. Mr. Lewin and his brother went to the Tuam Police Barracks to report the matter. A large number of policemen arrived, and shortly afterwards were supplemented by soldiers from Claremorris. When the soldiers reached the land the crowd fled. Aeroplanes hovered over the land on Friday. The demonstration was the result of the refusal of Mr. Lewin to accede to the demand for the division of his land.

THE KERRY SHOOTING OUTRAGE.

Patrick O'Connor, of Ballyheigue, Co. Kerry, who was fired at while returning to his home on Saturday evening last, was subsequently taken to Glenvera Hospital, Cork. His right eye was removed yesterday morning by Dr. David Horgan. The patient is progressing as favourably as can be expected.

A DONEGAL OUTRAGE.

Reports from Donegal state that at midnight on Saturday a party of masked men visited the residence of Mrs. Patton, of Knather, near Ballyshannon. Mrs. Patton is over 80 years of age, and the other occupants of the house are her two sons, a daughter, and a niece. On the night of the occurrence the two sons (one of whom is an income-tax collector) were in Ballyshannon. When returning home they were held up near their residence by a body of men and tied to trees. At the same time the house was searched and two guns were stolen. The entire income-tax books, forms, and returns were also taken away, and thrown into the River Erne.

RECTOR'S CLAIM FOR COMPENSATION.

Canon Wilson, Rector of Thurles, has lodged a claim for £30 for the breaking of his windows during a raid for arms by armed men on the rectory.

SAFEGUARDING WAR TROPHIES.

PRECAUTIONS IN BELFAST.

The Belfast police yesterday visited the museum in College square, North, and removed all the German arms and war trophies which were recently presented to the city by the military authorities and deposited in the museum. The collection included trench mortars and light guns. The removal of the trophies by the authorities has been under consideration for some time.

MILITARY ACTIVITY.

Policemen and soldiers were busy during Monday night both in Tralee and over a wide area around the town, apparently seeking to arrest prominent Sinn Feiners. Several houses were visited, but only in one instance did they succeed in making an arrest. This was Mr. Eamon O'Connor, newsagent and stationer, of Nelson street, Tralee, a prominent Gaelic Leaguer.

It is stated that Thomas Clifford, of the "1916 shop," and Thomas Slattery, jun., of Rock street, who were arrested at O'Dorney on Sunday night, were placed on board a destroyer at Fenit and conveyed to an unknown destination.

RAILWAY PASSENGERS SEARCHED.

Passengers by railway from Dublin to Limerick on Monday and yesterday were searched by parties of soldiers and policemen. At the station platform near Limerick the passengers had to leave the carriages while the search took place. No arrests were made.

SEARCH IN DUNGARVAN.

On Monday morning the draper's shop and dwelling-house of Mr. Daniel Fraser, Dungarvan, was raided by a party of police. The search lasted for about an hour. Mr. Fraser is president of the G.A.A. No arrest was made.

CHARGE OF SHOOTING AT A POLICEMAN.

COUNTY DUBLIN JURY DISAGREE

In the Commission Court, Green street, Dublin, yesterday, before the Lord Chief Justice, Frederick Murray, aged about 35, of respectable appearance, was tried by a special jury of the County of Dublin, the charge against him being that, on Sunday morning, March 30th, 1919, he unlawfully wounded Constable James Hayes, Royal Irish Constabulary, at Cork.

When he was asked by the Clerk of the Crown (Sir George Fottrell) as to whether he was guilty or not of the charge, the accused refused to plead. He said that he was not in custody for eleven months without his accusers' knowing whether he was guilty or not. He said that, as "a citizen of the Irish Republic," he did not recognise the Court.

Mr. Carrigan, K.C., and Mr. Dudley White, K.C. (instructed by the Chief Crown Solicitor), conducted the case for the prosecution. The accused was not defended.

Constable Hayes, in answer to Mr. White, stated that on the morning of March 30th, 1919, he and Constable Creed were on duty on the Western road, Cork, near the Muskerry Railway Station, when they met the prisoner, who was coming towards them on the footpath, and going towards the city. He saluted the man, but there was no reply, and witness asked him what he was doing out at that hour of the morning. The prisoner replied, "Boosing about." The prisoner made a spring out upon the road, and drew a revolver from his coat pocket. Witness at once caught him by the shoulder, and the prisoner fired two shots in rapid succession at him. Owing to the knocking about which he gave the prisoner, the shots went wide. The prisoner fired a third shot, which hit the witness in the right groin. He knocked the prisoner down and fell over him. A struggle took place. The prisoner extricated himself, and ran away down a side street. The witness fired three shots after him, but without effect. He handed his revolver to Constable Creed, and told him to pursue the fugitive, because he himself, having been wounded, was unable to do so. The man escaped, and the witness was taken to hospital, where he remained until April 18th. He was on the sick list until August 1st. He saw the prisoner on the South Mall, Cork, on May 7th, and identified him, although he had not known his name. He had the man's image constantly before his mind until he was arrested on the 15th May.

The accused asked the witness no questions.

Constable William Creed, the comrade of the previous witness on that morning, corroborated the witness's evidence, and added that he pursued the prisoner for a considerable distance and fired two shots at him, but the prisoner eventually escaped. He had no doubt about the identity of the prisoner, whom he had known before, although he had not known his name. He understood that the prisoner was a plasterer by trade.

Mr. A. Barnard, C.E., proved a map of the scene of the occurrence, and Mr. Patrick McCarthy stated that the accused had been foreman mason for some time in the employment of a firm of builders in Cork. He was a man of excellent character, who neither drank nor smoked.

At the close of the evidence the prisoner said that the Crown witnesses were perjurers. Since this charge had been made against him, he had got the verdict of his fellow-citizens of Cork, who elected him senior alderman of his ward.

The jury, after half an hour's deliberation, announced that they were unable to agree to a verdict, and they were accordingly discharged. The prisoner was put back, he having declined to make any application to be admitted to bail, till the next Commission.

BOLSHEVIK SAVAGERY.

THE TORTURE OF TWO BRITISH OFFICERS.

Reuter's Agency has received a letter written by a British officer serving in South Russia. It contains a terrible account of the treatment of two British officers by Bolsheviks. The writer says:—One of them I know slightly (name is given, but is omitted for obvious reasons). The two officers, who were captured at Rostoff, were stripped naked and their arms were broken. They were marched in this condition through the town. On arrival at the public square they were tied to posts and passing officers drew their revolvers and fired at them, only aiming at their arms and legs. They were not killed then, but were taken away to be shot, and because they would not kneel down, but preferred to die standing like soldiers, their legs were broken. They were then shot and their miseries ended.

JAPANESE TAKE VLADIVOSTOK.

A New York telegram says:—The Correspondent of the Associated Press at Vladivostok reports that the Japanese troops have entered Vladivostok after eight hours' severe fighting.

The news of the Japanese occupation of Vladivostok has come, says a Washington message, as a complete surprise to the American officials. They refuse to offer any comment, but unofficially the view is expressed that the move is, perhaps, due to a threatened uprising of extremists, which might endanger the Japanese military base at that port.

SINN FEIN FARCE AT WASHINGTON.

THREE WOMEN ARRESTED.

Reuter's Washington Correspondent, telegraphing on Tuesday, says:—Three women supporters of the "Irish cause" appeared at the British Embassy here to-day, and resumed picketing. When the women displayed their banners the police warned them against remaining there, and, on their warning being ignored, arrested the visitors.

The Attachés at the Embassy secured one of the banners which the women had displayed, and placed it in one of the Embassy windows. The inscription read "Down with British Militarism."

AEROPLANE FALLS INTO THE WATER.

A telegram from Cannes says—Two French persons who were on holiday with their children went for a flight over the harbour, when the machine fell into the water. The occupants, including the pilot, were drowned.

RUMANIAN TROOPS EVACUATE HUNGARY.

Reuter's Agency says that a telegram from Bukharest states that the Rumanian troops completed the evacuation of Hungarian territory on March 24th.

INDIAN EVANGELIST IN DUBLIN.

SADHU SUNDAR SINGH'S ADDRESS.

Sadhu Sundar Singh, a noted Indian evangelist, delivered an address to a crowded audience at the Friends' Meeting House, Eustace street, Dublin, last night. Professor Trench presided, and among those on the platform were the Archbishop of Dublin, and prominent clergymen and laymen of the Church of Ireland and the Nonconformist Churches. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Irish Laymen's Missionary Union.

The Chairman welcomed the Sadhu as representing the very ideal of the Laymen's Missionary movement.

The Archbishop of Dublin said that it was with pleasure he responded to the request to express their welcome to the Sadhu. He assured him, in welcoming him with all their hearts, that they had the deepest sympathy in his work. What they had read and heard of his doings in India had stirred them very deeply. They thanked God for such a movement in India as that which he represented. It was a country of great spiritual resources, and they hoped the Sadhu's work was the beginning of that indigenous Christian movement which they all prayed for. Christ was universal for all men and nations.

Mr. Charles Eason, J.P., on behalf of the Irish Committee of the Laymen's Movement, said that they appreciated the kindness of the Sadhu in coming to address them.

Sadhu Sundar Singh, in the course of an eloquent address, related the story of his own conversion to Christianity, and his subsequent trials as a preacher in Thibet, where he was cast into prison, and where many missionaries met with persecution. He said that he was there not to give a lecture or make a speech, but to bear witness to Jesus Christ. "Ye shall bear witness unto Me." To be a witness for Jesus Christ, he said, was a great privilege. He was not born a Christian, and used to throw stones at the missionaries, and used to think that Christianity was a false religion. But his eyes were opened, and he saw Christ's glory. His exhortation was—Practise the Scriptures; do good and be good. If they gave their hearts to God their desire would be satisfied. At one time he was a man without hope, but something like electricity came into his heart, and he got a vision of Christ.

THE MURDER OF SERGEANT BRADY.

TRIAL OF PRISONERS POSTPONED.

At the County Dublin Commission Court yesterday, in the case of John Joseph Madden, who is in custody on a charge of having murdered Sergeant Philip Brady, R.I.C., at Lorrha, Co. Tipperary, on the night of the 2nd of September last,

Mr. Carrigan, K.C., for the Crown, applied that the trial, which had been set down for these sittings, might be further postponed. He made the application in view of a development in the matter of evidence which had occurred quite recently. He mentioned the 22nd inst. as a date which might be convenient for the trial.

Mr. Lynch, K.C., said that that date would suit him, and the trial was postponed till the 22nd inst.

THEFT FROM COUNTY WICKLOW POST OFFICE.

Five young men from the Rathdrum (County Wicklow) district were yesterday remanded on a charge of having stolen 19s. from Knockrath Post Office. Mrs. Gavin, postmistress, stated that at 10.30 at night three men demanded admission to the post office, saying that they were policemen looking for arms. They were armed with revolvers, and on being admitted searched the shop. They subsequently left by the rear of the house. Three hours after information had been given to the police, three of the accused were arrested.

STATE OF DUBLIN.

INCREASE OF CRIME.

THE LORD CHIEF JUSTICE'S REMARKS.

A MENACE TO COMMERCIAL PROSPERITY.

The Lord Chief Justice of Ireland opened a Commission for the trial of prisoners from the County and the City of Dublin at the Green street Courthouse yesterday. With his lordship on the bench sat the High Sheriffs for the county and the city—Mr. Coote Hely Hutchinson and Dr. McWalter. The precincts of the Courthouse were guarded in an unusual way by armed military and by members of the Royal Irish Constabulary, also with arms, who were accommodated with seats in the gallery.

STATE OF THE COUNTY.

The following constituted the Grand Jury for the county:—Messrs. John Beatty (foreman), Patrick Derham, Thomas Hever, Ernest Lewis, Wm. Maher, Louis A. Witz, Thomas Clunan, Henry J. R. Digges, Frederick Hoey, Nicholas Long, Patrick J. Smith, Ml. Brady, Jos. Cooney, Patrick Domigan, Geo. P. Fleming, Wm. Hoey, Launcelot Smith, John W. Britton, Ed. Dormer, Wm. M. Forsyth, Wm. J. Hoey, James F. Mooney, and Thomas J. Smith.

The Lord Chief Justice, addressing them, said that there were only nine cases for trial, but in respect of these four bills had already been found, and so there were only five cases to be investigated by the Grand Jury. There was another in which the venue had been changed from the King's County—a Whiteboy offence—and in which Patrick Rourke was charged with having, with two other armed and disguised men, broken into his father's premises and threatened his stepmother with loss of life in the event of her giving evidence against him at petty sessions. Turning to the general state of the county as disclosed in the returns submitted to him he regretted that he could not congratulate them on their county being in a peaceful or orderly state. In his experience in that Court for a considerable number of years the thing that struck him most was the almost entire absence of crime in the agricultural portions of the County of Dublin. Having prosecuted in that Court for some years, nothing seemed to him to be more striking than to see a large agricultural population conducting their business in a peaceable and orderly manner, without ever being brought within the meshes of the criminal law. He was very sorry to see from the returns that that good character had not been maintained. He found that, while in this large area there were only seven specially reported cases in the corresponding period of two months, February and March, last year, that number had increased in the present year to twenty-six. Amongst those reported, and for which at present no person had been made amenable, was one case of murder, in which the murdered person was J. G. Byrne, who was found off the Ballymun road, near the Model Farm at Glasnevin. In the old times there was nothing like arson or malicious damage done in the county. Within the past two months there had been no less than eleven cases of arson—ten of them arising, apparently, out of the labourers' strike which commenced on the 15th of March. Between that date and the 22nd—that was one week—property had been destroyed in respect of which claims for compensation to the amount of £7,910 had been lodged. That seemed to be a very shocking state of affairs at a time when the people were declaiming against high prices, and looking forward to the time when food would be cheaper—shocking that there should be wilful destruction of food and fodder to such a remarkably large extent. There was also an increase in the number of robberies and assaults, of which there was no case at all in the corresponding period of last year. One of those cases was one of great daring, in which a postal van on its way from Dublin to Navan was attacked by twelve armed and disguised men, who removed some of the letters. Turning to that portion of the county which was embraced in the Dublin Metropolitan Police district, his lordship said that there was also a very considerable increase in crime. The number of reported cases within the last two months amounted to 83, as against 64 for the same period last year, and that number excluded from consideration all the cases of drunkenness and disorderly conduct and other minor offences. He hoped that the state of the county would improve. Unfortunately, quite recently, a short distance from the city, Mr. Alan Bell was the victim of a cold-blooded atrocity which was seldom exceeded in the annals of crime. His lordship expressed his sincere hope that there would soon be an improvement in the condition of the county.

STATE OF THE CITY.

The following constituted the City Grand Jury:—Maurice Dee (foreman), Patrick Gorevan, Chas. Maunsell, Jos. Nicholls, Geo. Archer, John J. Berney, Jos. Deegan, Patrick Gorman, David J. Jones, Peter O'Reilly, Fras. H. Pim, Ml. Spelman, Andrew Whyte, Rd. W. Archer, J. R. Coade, Jos. Delahunt, Geo. Grandy, Ed. Heron, Frederick R. Jones, Dermot Kennedy, Philip Maher, James Nicholls, and John White.

The Lord Chief Justice told the Grand Jury that there were seventeen cases for trial, but that bills had already been found in five. The remaining twelve were cases of the ordinary description—larcencies, intimidation, false pretences, etc. According to the police returns, he was sorry to say that the state of the city could not be regarded as satisfactory. In the period under review—February and March—there had been 591 cases reported to the police, as against 328 for the corresponding period last year. These numbers did not include cases of drunkenness or disorderly conduct, or other minor offences. The only piece of consolation which he was able to give the jury on the present occasion was that the convictions for drunkenness had fallen from 444 to 364, a substantial reduction, which might not be altogether due to the moral improvement of the people, but rather to the absence of the usual facilities for drinking during the grocers' assistants' strike. Apart from these minor offences one could not help being struck by the very remarkable increase in some of the others. These matters required the serious and earnest attention of the citizens of Dublin and of everyone who felt an interest in the welfare of the city. The number of offences against the person had increased from 54 to 78. For the two months there had been two murders and five attempts at murder. As regards offences with violence against property—namely, burglary and house-breaking and breaking into shops and warehouses—these had increased from 19 last year to 115 in the last two months. Ordinary stealing had increased from 213 to 272; and malicious injury to property, for which, unfortunately, the citizens would have to pay, the number had increased from 38 to 106. As regards unlawful assembly and cases of intimidation, from which last year the city was entirely free, there had been 16 cases in the period under review. No doubt, some of these—perhaps a majority—were due to a passing phase of life in the city—the grocers' assistants' strike. He did not wish to comment further upon these figures, nor did he suggest causes or remedies; but he commended them to the attention of everyone who felt an interest in the city and wished her to be prosperous and her citizens happy. If crime was to proceed in the future as it had done in the immediate past, it would not only react on, but perhaps destroy, the commercial life and prosperity of the city.

THE STATE OF IRELAND.

SIR JAMES CRAIG AND THE ULSTER PARLIAMENT.

Colonel Sir James Craig, Bart., M.P., speaking at Tullygirvan, Co. Down, at the opening of the new Orange Hall, said that they could not help casting a glance at the existing state of affairs in Ireland and then looking ahead to the future of their country. Before dealing with that subject, however, he would like to acknowledge the deep debt of gratitude that they owed to Mr. Macpherson, who had retired from the position of Chief Secretary, for his sympathetic treatment of the whole of Ireland, his painstaking labours in the promotion of law and order, and his anxious care for the security of life and property. So far as Ulster was concerned they owed him a special debt of gratitude inasmuch as he had always shown himself prepared to deal in a friendly and kindly way with any question which affected the well-being of their province. (Hear, hear.) It would also be fitting, he thought, for them to hold out the hand of welcome to Sir Hamar Greenwood, who was succeeding Mr. Macpherson. All would agree with him that it required some courage and some confidence in oneself to assume the position of Chief Secretary for Ireland while a part of Ireland was in such a disturbed state. Sir Hamar Greenwood was a Colonial, a man stout of heart, broad-minded, capable, young, and energetic, and might God bless his efforts in attempting to bring something like peace and concord to the land which they all loved as well as did any other class of Irishmen. (Hear, hear.) Proceeding, Sir James referred to the outrages in the South and West of Ireland, and said he believed that such crimes had not the countenance or support of the great mass of his fellow-countrymen. Sir James then dealt with the legislative proposals before Parliament with regard to Ireland and the part Sir Edward Carson had taken in the work of defending the interests of Irish Loyalists. He agreed that they might have difficulties when a Parliament was set up in Ulster, but in Ulster difficulties had only to be raised to be overcome. He was confident that the working men and the agriculturists of the North of Ireland would take steps to see that proper representatives were returned to their Parliament, and that all the great matters which concerned them would receive ample and undivided attention. One word, however, he would say to them, and it was to make a special study of proportional representation, and, if they did, it would save them from regrets in the days to come.

ENGLISH LABOUR PROBLEMS.

MINERS BALLOT ON GOVERNMENT'S OFFER.

The North Wales Miners' Executive at a special meeting at Wrexham yesterday, resolved by a majority to recommend the men to accept the Government's offer.

A feeling in favour of accepting the Government's offer is growing among the Nottinghamshire miners. At Hucknall Torkard, one of the largest centres in the district, yesterday the men voted for acceptance, with only two dissentients.

The President of the Durham Miners' Association yesterday, addressing the Durham miners on the subject of the Government's offer, recommended its acceptance.

VOTE AGAINST MINES NATIONALISATION.

Nearly 10,000 miners from various parts of the coalfield attended a demonstration against the nationalisation of mines at Mountain Ash yesterday. A resolution was passed unanimously opposing the project on the ground that it would be detrimental to the interests of miners, owners, and consumers, and advocating a system of profit-sharing, after the payment of a fair dividend to capital and a proper wage to workmen.

SHOOTING CASE AT EASTBOURNE

Whilst about to leave his lodgings at Eastbourne yesterday morning a visitor from Lewisham is alleged to have shot his wife as she was leaving the bedroom. After informing the landlady of what had happened, the man is reported to have said that he had better shoot himself, which he did forthwith. The man and his wife were removed to hospital in a badly wounded condition, and the wife is not expected to live.

ENGLISH TEACHERS AND RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

The National Union of Teachers' Conference was resumed at Cardiff yesterday, when there were lively proceedings in regard to new proposals by the Minister of Education regarding religious instruction. Eventually the Conference decided that the Executive should interview Mr. Fisher to gain further details regarding his proposals before taking action on the matter. A resolution formulating a comprehensive system of free national education was the subject of lively discussion, with many amendments, making the resolution still more advanced. The discussion will be resumed to-day.

BELFAST HOUSING SCHEME.

At the monthly meeting of the Belfast Corporation an interesting discussion took place in reference to the proposed erection of houses in Belfast. Tenders were invited for the erection of demonstration houses. The Board of Architects estimated the cost for three types of houses at £1,541, £1,762, and £1,773 per block of two houses. The Builders' Association quoted £1,829, £2,043, and £2,092, respectively. Two builders, not in the Association, tendered as follows:—Mr. Samuel Agnew, £1,541, £1,745, £1,762; Messrs. Colville, £1,550, £1,700, and £1,770. It was decided to accept Mr. Agnew's tender for three blocks of first-mentioned type, and Messrs. Colville's tender for three blocks of intermediate type, and to erect one pair of each type by direct labour.

Sir Crawford McCullough, Chairman of the Housing Committee, said that the City Architect had made a return showing the rents which would be necessary in connection with these houses erected at the prices at which the tenders had been provisionally accepted, basing his calculations on 9½ per cent. upon the cost of erection. This showed that for No. 4, a kitchen house, the economic rent would be 33s. 9d. per week, and the Exchequer subsidy would be 18s. 9d., leaving the rent payable by the tenant 15s. per week.

Councillor Lowther, a Labour member, said that he was sure the building workers would organise and assist if the object were to produce the houses cheaply and quickly, and would even work an hour extra daily to expedite the work. They would not, however, do anything to bring profit to a ring of builders.

Sir Crawford McCullough then moved, and Councillor McConnell seconded, that application be made to the Local Government Board for permission to borrow £1,000,000 for the housing scheme.

Councillor Campbell proposed as an amendment that the amount be £2,000,000.

Councillor Houston seconded the amendment, which was agreed to, and the Council adjourned.

To March 31, 1919, the Commissioners had acquired estates representing £9,311,406.

RE-SALE OF ESTATES.

When the Congested Districts Board have completed their arrangements for the re-sale of estates purchased by them under the Acts of 1903-9 the purchase agreements signed by the Board and the purchasers are lodged for re-sale through the Land Commission by holdings, or through the Estates Commissioners as estates, and when the lands are vested in the purchasers subject to annuities, the advances in respect thereof are written off the advances already made to the Board for the purchase of estates.

ACCOMMODATION FOR LABOURERS.

During the period ended 31st March, 1919, the Commissioners forwarded to Rural District Councils and to the Local Government Board 190 representations or reports advising that 324 cottages should be erected to supply the needs of 281 holdings. Advances amounting to £9,987 have been made to agricultural labourers under Section 2, of the Act of 1903 and Section 19 of the Labourers (Ireland) Act, 1906.

MINES AND MINERALS.

In the 8,699 estates for the purchase of which advances were made by the Estates Commissioners during the period from 1st November, 1903, to the 31st March, 1919, the right of mining and taking minerals was dealt with as follows:—In 7,038 estates they were reserved to the Land Commission, in 854 to the superior landlords, in 332 partly to the superior landlords and partly to the Land Commission, in one partly to the superior landlord and partly to the vendor, in two to the superior landlord and the Land Commission jointly, in 16 partly to the vendor and partly to the Land Commission, in two partly to the purchaser and partly to the Land Commission, in one partly to the purchaser, partly to the vendor, and partly to the Land Commission, in one partly to the superior landlord and partly to the vendor, in two partly to the superior landlord and partly to the purchasers, in 24 to the vendor, in 391 to the Congested Districts Board, in 34 to the Congested Districts Board and the superior landlord, and in one to the Congested Districts Board and the vendor. In the case of one holding on an estate the mining rights were vested in the purchaser. In 18 cases the Commissioners have made prospecting leases.

LONG-DISTANCE WIRELESS AT SEA.

Such striking results have been obtained by the new long-distance Marconi wireless sets on board the Cunarders, Imperator, Mauretania, and Carmania that a rapid extension of these instruments to other great liners may be expected. The famous White Star vessels, Olympic, Adriatic, Baltic, Celtic, Cedric and Megantic, are being similarly equipped, and will carry this new apparatus on their next sailings from England. All these ships will now have direct inter-communication with land over a distance of 1,400 miles. Radio-telegrams intended for passengers may be handed in at any Post Office. The word "Aberdeen" must be included in the address after the name of the ship. The charge for such radio-telegrams is 10½d. per word.

Mr. A. H. Peake, Premier and Treasurer of South Australia, died suddenly at Adelaide on Monday.

A telegram from Constantinople, dated Monday, states:—An Imperial decree, approving of the composition of Damad Ferid Pasha's Cabinet, was read at the Porte this afternoon. The decree empowers the Government to take measures to restore order and security in the Empire, and punish the authors of the Nationalist movement. A firm desire is expressed for the establishment of relations of sincere confidence with the Allied Great Powers.

INDEPENDENT LABOUR PARTY CONFERENCE.

THE INTERNATIONAL.

The debate on the International was continued by the Independent Labour Party at the Glasgow Conference yesterday, and a card vote taken half way through the morning session resulted in a decision to withdraw from the Geneva International. The Conference rejected a proposal to affiliate immediately with the Moscow International, but endorsed the decision of the Executive to invite the Swiss Party to arrange for a consultation regarding the possibility of one all-inclusive International, for the purpose of formulating a basis for an International which would allow the national sections to adopt their policies to the differing political and industrial conditions in their various countries. To this was added a provision that, after the consultations and inquiries are completed, a special Independent Labour Party Conference shall be called to consider the report. The decision was in the nature of a compromise, and was received with obvious satisfaction by prominent leaders of the party and members of the National Council.

The majority of the delegates were in favour of severing the connection of the party with the Geneva International, which was described during the discussion as on its last legs. They were not willing, however, to commit themselves to affiliation with Moscow without a further investigation and more trustworthy facts and information.

One of the amendments standing in the name of Liverpool anticipated the resignation en bloc of the National Administrative Council in the event of the Conference deciding to join the Moscow International, and provided for the election of a Provisional Council to carry on the business of the party until a special Conference had been held. The defeat of the Moscow project rendered such a course unnecessary.

The debate was of a lively character. Speakers were frequently interrupted by delegates holding other views, and the Chairman, Mr. Philip Snowden, at one stage rebuked them by saying, "It is not necessary to be ill-mannered and offensive to be a Bolshevist."

Mr. George Benson, North Salford, said that he was whole-heartedly in sympathy with linking up with "our Russian comrades." No International which failed to contain them would be a real International. (Cheers.) He was in favour of joining up with the German Independents and all the Left Wing Socialists in the world. The question was—on what terms were they going to do it. It was not a question of whether they were prepared to defend the Socialist State by force, but of whether they agreed with the institution of a Socialist State by means of force. That was clear by the terms laid down in the invitation from Moscow. The Moscow authorities, they were told, were not prepared to negotiate with the Independent Labour Party, the reason given being that that party was not a physical force revolutionary party. If they were going to accept the terms which Lenin and Trotsky had laid down, they must accept them in the literal meaning of the words.

Discussing the proposal to join the Third International, Mr. Benson said—It means the arming of the working classes without exception. Are you in favour of putting rifles into the hands of every working man? Are you in favour of distributing bombs among blacklegs, because they are working men? Gold help you! Are you in favour of arming the Labour Party? Distribute your rifles, cried Mr. Benson, and I will tell you who will be the first 30,000 victims. They will be the members of the Independent Labour Party. (Laughter and cheers.) Continuing, he said that he wanted their delegates to go to an International Conference with free hands, unbound and unfettered, and with power to fashion a basis that would be all-embracing. (Cheers.)

MR. SHINWELL.

Mr. E. Shinwell, Glasgow, said that they must be prepared, not by using arms necessarily, but by organising the workers in the workships. Did they approve of that? (Cries of "Yes.") Then, said Mr. Shinwell, I ask you to get busy. (Cheers.) He added that some of them were up in the clouds, expecting a revolution to be handed out to them on a silver salver. (Laughter and cheers.)

Miss Jessie Stevens, London, said that she was in favour of leaving the Geneva International, but was opposed to joining Moscow, without full facts and inquiry by the Executive.

Mr. Clifford Allen, London, said that he was not prepared to accept the interpretation of the Third International given by some exponents in the Conference. They had done a great disservice to their own cause. I do not believe, said Mr. Allen, that the method of armed revolution will serve the ideal of Socialism, but I admit I am going through great mental agony with regard to that question. I am prepared to use the method of the strike. I cannot condemn every method which might conceivably result in bloodshed.

The discussion was closed, and the vote taken.

A delegate asked that they might hear a voice from Ireland.

The Chairman—The only voice you will hear now is mine.

On a card vote the resolution to withdraw from the Geneva International was carried by 529 votes to 144, the result being received with cheers.

A further vote was taken, and resulted as follows:—

For immediate affiliation with the Moscow International, 206.

For consultation and inquiries and a special conference on the question of establishing one all-inclusive International, 529.

The Moscow proposal was, therefore, rejected in favour of a conference being called by the Swiss Party.

PROHIBITION OF DRINK.

A discussion took place on the drink traffic, and a motion, strongly supported by Scottish delegates, was carried on a card vote in favour of the principle of total prohibition. The voting was:—For 269, against 187.

The Conference afterwards came to a close.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

PRESBYTERY OF DUBLIN.

The statutory meeting of the Dublin Presbytery was held yesterday at 85 Grafton street, Dublin. The new Moderator, Rev. J. J. Macaulay, took the chair, and constituted the Court. There were also present—Revs. Dr. Osborne, J. L. Morrow, H. P. Glenn, R. Parke, John Humphreys, Gordon Clements (Clerk), J. Rogers Boyd, A. Gailey, H. C. Waddell, W. S. Kirkpatrick, W. Smyth, James Snowdon, F. C. Gibson, J. S. Crockett, W. S. Montgomery, J. H. Black, D. Meeke; with Messrs. Donald McLeod, W. Campbell, W. H. Adams, James McConnell, J. C. Henry, Elders.

The Rev. John Humphries submitted the annual report on the state of religion within the Presbytery. There was little or no drunkenness, gambling, or Sabbath desecration amongst the members of the Presbyterian Church. The givings to the Church have been generally much increased, but do not yet correspond to the increase in wealth or the depreciation in the currency. The work in the congregations is being earnestly prosecuted. The children are being better ministered to in the public worship of the Church, and the organisations for the young are experiencing a revival since the demobilisation of the war workers. The aftermath of war, in the mental and moral unsettlement of society and the pursuit of pleasure, was referred to, and the necessity for the Church [illegible] itself to prayer for the Holy Spirit.

The sad state [illegible]eland was considered, and it was resolved [illegible] the Presbytery, at the meeting on Tue[illegible] 13th inst., suspend other business at 12.3[illegible] hold a special prayer meeting, to which [illegible] public are to be invited.

The annual repo[illegible] on Temperance, prepared by Mr. Waddell, was submitted, which surveyed the position on the drink question taken in different countries. The report was adopted.

The annual examination in connection with the Sabbath and Day Schools' Union was held last week, when the names of 651 children were sent forward for examination.

The Session adjourned, to meet on the 13th April at 10.30, to prepare the returns for the General Assembly.

IRISH NATIONAL TEACHERS' ORGANISATION.

ANNUAL CONGRESS IN DUBLIN.

THE EDUCATION BILL.

The annual Congress in connection with the Irish National Teachers' Organisation was opened yesterday in the Banba Hall, Rutland square, Dublin. The President, Mr. T. J. Nunan (Tralee), occupied the chair, and there was a large attendance of delegates.

The President, in the course of his address, contrasted the advances given to England, Scotland, and Ireland for educational purposes, and said that the entire expenditure upon Irish education was about five millions, or less than half what Scotland expended for exactly the same purpose. England did similarly with Scotland. Could they hold their own against a fully equipped competitor when they were only half equipped? Could they even hope to outwit these people politically when they had all the advantages of a superior education, and when poverty was no bar to brains in aspiring to and reaching the highest position in the land? The time had definitely arrived when all interested in education in this country must make a united and determined effort, an effort which would not accept defeat, to get into stride with the spirit of progress and prepare themselves to compete in every way with the nations around them, which were sparing no effort to equip themselves. Everybody in Ireland admitted that there was much in their education system which was slow and unprogressive, that it suffered seriously from straitened circumstances, that the teachers, who were, and must be, the backbone of any education system, were thoroughly discontented, not without sore reason; and that in the net result they must inevitably lag behind more progressive peoples and be completely lost unless they could get into step and take the forward strides which the occasion called for. As to the report of the Killanin Commission, they used every means in their power to have its recommendations put into immediate operation. They failed in their endeavours, and the history of the subsequent happenings was too well known to need repetition. Suffice it to say that the much disputed Bill saw the light in November. The President then went on to refer to interviews between representatives of the primary, secondary and technical teachers and the Chief Secretary prior to the introduction of the Education Bill, and said that he thought it but fair to point out that much of the unmerited and unseemly abuse which had been levelled at the heads of the primary teachers particularly, arose mainly from the conception that they were responsible for the creation of the Department of Education proposed in the Bill; that their support of the Bill was unconditional, and that they accepted the Department as outlined in the Bill without alteration. These were two grossly incorrect conceptions. Their claim on the Government was the recommendations of the Killanin Committee. These contained no call for, or even hint at a Department, and therefore they sought none or claimed none. It was not so on the Molony Committee, the report of which body boldly outlined the new Department. The proposal to set up a Department clearly had its birth in this recommendation, made by an Irish Committee representative of the Church, the headmasters, and the universities. Even with this powerful authority behind it, they refused to accept it from the first, for, altogether outside the high and sacred question of religious safety and freedom of national thought, they refused to accept it on very much more worldly grounds. They would not place their fortunes absolutely in the hands of any two permanent officials, be they English, Scotch, or Irish, Christian, Jew, or heathen. Of the many charges and insinuations levelled at them there was none so painful as the insinuation, and often open charge, that they would barter their religious or even their national faith for a price. Theirs was a non-political and non-sectarian organisation. The charges were unchristian, untrue, and entirely unworthy of those who made them. They had or have no agreement or bargain of any kind with the Government.

RELIGIOUS TEACHING.

After referring to the position of the Catholic schools, the Catholic teaching, and the priests in relation thereto in England under the bill of 1902, and also in Scotland, he asked if these things were possible in Protestant England and Presbyterian Scotland, where the Departments and local councils were entirely non-Catholic, why should they not feel that religious teaching could not be touched here? Their belief that it was not intended to touch religious teaching or the managerial system under the bill had been justified by the statement of the Chief Secretary recently. The charge that Catholic teachers would barter or even risk in the slightest degree their faith for a material advantage, no matter how great, was bitterly resented by them, because it was unmerited, and, considering all their work in the field of religious teaching, ungrateful. The short but kindly letter of Most Rev. Dr. O'Donnell, who had worked humbly and ably side by side with the teachers' representatives on the Killanin Committee, showed like an oasis in a desert of misunderstanding. While he pointed out that the bill was a danger, he understood their difficult position, and was noble and kind enough to say so. From expressions of opinion there was little comfort to be extracted by teachers, who were as hard pressed as ever any body of men or women could be, and owing to the attitude which they took up after the bill was introduced one would expect that there would be more understanding of the teachers' position, more real practical sympathy, or some alternative proposal that would bring a ray of hope to a very ill-treated body. Instead there was generated much unnecessary heat and bitterness which had done no good to religion or to education, and had not added to the harmony that should exist between teachers and managers. It was to be deeply regretted that the headline set by their lordships the Bishops in their solemn and dignified pronouncements was not copied by other writers and speakers. It was also a matter for deep regret that there should appear differences between the Hierarchy and the teachers. When the question was examined coldly it would be seen that the difference between their lordships' attitude and that of the teachers was not one of aim or purpose, but of ways and methods. Some confusion had been caused by the objection made to the principle of the bill. Such an objection was open to the interpretation that no bill of any kind should be considered unless it was introduced in an Irish Parliament, and this interpretation was accepted by many; this despite the fact that the Killanin recommendations, accepted by all, postulated the passing of a bill. Much misunderstanding could have been avoided had there been an exchange of views, and the Executive looked forward daily to an invitation to a meeting for that purpose.

SUGGESTED CONFERENCE.

"I have pointed out already," continued the President, "that the call for a Department did not come from the primary teachers, and we refused to accept it as outlined in the Bill; we are not bound to a Department, though we believe that it would be no worse than a nominated Board, and if a recasting of the Bill substituting a representative Board for a Department, or providing some solution which will preserve the many admitted great advantages of the Bill can be found, the national teachers will enthusiastically support such efforts. With this end in view it would seem that a conference where the various interests would be represented would provide a solution of the question acceptable to all, and would lead to a full understanding of one another's difficulties. I have the full support of the Central Committee when I say that if their lordships the Bishops and the Catholic clerical managers think that such a conference would be productive of good results, the national teachers will be happy to attend and do their best to smooth over the present difficulties. If a larger conference is desirable, at which the full voice of the nation would be enabled to say what Ireland would have in education, we are willling and anxious to take our place in such a gathering." They could not, he concluded, go on as they were unless they really wished to sink into obscurity. More money must be spent on education, which must be better organised and co-ordinated, and the different schemes made to fit into and harmonise with one another. The people must be directly represented on the administering body, enabling the country's real desire and ideal of education to be brought into being. Whatever the fate of the Bill, the provisions for scholarships from primary to secondary and technical schools must be saved. Much of the discontent in the Labour ranks in Ireland might not incorrectly be traced to the fact that brains abound where brawn only was required. Forcibly submerged brains were the breeding ground of discontent; but bright and brainy children of the Irish workingman must get a chance similar to those in Scotland. It was a sorry picture to see the cradle of education in Ireland watched over by nurses neither representative of the people, responsible to them, nor responsible to their expressed will. It was surely time this should end. "We are at the parting of the ways," he concluded, "and let us all hope and pray that out of present difficulties may come lasting good for our beloved land." (Applause.)

The Secretary (Mr. T. J. O'Connell) read a letter from the Secretary of the Educational Institute, Scotland, expressing regret that the representatives from it appointed to attend the Dublin Congress would not be able to come, owing to the fact that they were arranging a conference with the English delegates regarding the question of superannuation.

THE NEW PRESIDENT.

Mr. D. C. Maher, B.A., Ardmayle, Cashel, Co. Tipperary, was elected President for the coming year, and Mr. John Harbinson, Belfast, Vice-President.

The district representatives were also elected.

Mr. Maher, having expressed thanks for his election for the second time to the position of President, said that he had been twenty-six years a member of the cabinet of the teachers, and they had weathered many storms together, and, please God, they would weather any future storms. He promised them, and he had reason for the promise, that if they kept united and kept their organisation the fighting force it is to-day the coming summer would not be far advanced when they would have a fixed, permanent, and satisfactory scale of salaries for the teachers of Ireland. He hoped he should not have to leave the ship until he saw the teachers in the enjoyment of financial remuneration commensurate with the importance of the work they had to perform.

Mr. Harbinson also returned thanks, and said that at a time when there was some dissension and a certain amount of misunderstanding the teachers had come forward and elected a Belfast man to the position of Vice-President. He had heard it said that the teachers of the South and West did not want the Northern teachers.

A delegate—It is a lie.

Mr. Harbinson said that he never believed it, and their vote had disproved any such statement. There was also talk about how little they in the North thought in common with the South and West. He never believed that either. Beneath all the differences there was a great substratum of a common nationality. He mentioned that there was a small cleavage from the organisation in the district to which he belonged, but notwithstanding that the membership of the Northern district had increased during the year.

The appointment of tellers and committees followed, and the afternoon session was conducted in private.

DUBLIN BOY SCOUTS' ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Dublin Boy Scouts' Association was held on Thursday last at the offices of the Association, 40 Merrion square, Dublin, at 5.30 p.m., the Chairman, Dr. A. Francis Dixon, presiding. The following were also present:—Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Raphael, Capt. F. J. Romanes, Rev. W. Nesbitt Harvey, B.D.; Capt. T. J. Hornblower, Messrs. J. R. Clegg (Vice-President), William Carte, A. L. R. Moore, J.P.; R. Tucker, Norman Stewart (Hon. Treasurer), Percy H. Clegg (Hon. Asst. Secretary), and E. G. Glanville (Hon. Secretary).

The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and signed, the Hon. Secretary was directed to issue warrants for two assistant scout masters, also one for instructor, both having been recommended by the Commissioner and approved of by headquarters. The Chairman reported on the proposed classes and examinations to be held in the Zoological Gardens for Scouts during the coming spring.

A letter was read from Lady Powerscourt, asking that the Boy Scouts might help at the fête to be held in May, in aid of the National Children's Hospital, and it was decided to arrange that as many Scouts as possible should give their assistance on the occasion. The Committee noted with satisfaction that the arrangements for the great Boy Scout display, to be held in the Main Hall of the Royal Dublin Society's premises at Ballsbridge, on Saturday next, were practically complete. The band of the Comrades of the Great War will play at both performances. Doors will open at 2.15 and 7.15, and the displays will include trek car obstacle race, hut building, camp craft, bridge building, etc., and the handicrafts will include metal working, mat making, boot mending, wood working and survey, etc.

The Committee, having passed a hearty vote of thanks to Captain George Robinson, M.C., for his kindness, in not only judging the competition at the recent examination in connection with the Wolf Cubs, but also for his promise to give a silver medal to each member of the winning team—viz., the 11th County, Zion Church, the Committee adjourned.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

WELSH AND IRISH.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Mr. Lloyd George boasted that the Welsh have "conserved" their two thousand years old tongue and have a living literature, and taunted us with having only our names on carts and corners and not being able to read that same. Neither friend nor foe sang out, "Who suppressed the Gaelic League?" or reminded him that we were bidden to welcome Mr. Macpherson with a heart and a half because he could bless us in Gaelic. He does not seem to have engaged in that endearing pastime: maybe, he was too busy doing the other thing in English.

On the 3rd March, 1849, Queen Victoria wrote to the Marquis of Lansdowne:—"The Queen takes this occasion of repeating her hope that Gaelic will be taught in future in the Highland schools, as well as English, as it is really a great mistake that the people should be constantly talking a language which they often cannot read and generally not write. Being very partial to her loyal and good Highlanders, the Queen takes much interest in what she thinks will tend more than anything to keep up their simplicity of character, which she considers a great merit in these days. The Queen thinks equally that Welsh should be taught in Wales as well as English." Lord Lansdowne, in his reply, undertook "to combine instruction in the Gaelic with the English language in the Highland as well as the Welsh schools, and to have a view to it in the choice of inspectors."

But Welsh must either have been put in charge of the Circumlocution Office or it must be a tender plant that soon withered away; for in "Welsh as a Specific Subject for Elementary Schools, Stage I.," published for the Society for Utilising the Welsh Language, in 1897, the preface, dated July 1st, 1887, states that this was the first text-book for teaching Welsh in elementary schools, and that the teachers of the Gelligaer Schools were the only ones who had the advantage of actual experience in teaching this subject and having the results tested by Her Majesty's inspectors; and, although the teachers had no text-books to assist them, they found that the children had improved in English by learning two languages well instead of one badly. In 1886 a Government Blue Book said: "The actual result produced on the present system in many Welsh-speaking districts is that the bulk of the scholars, it is to be feared, pass through the schools without acquiring sufficient knowledge of English to understand or take pleasure in reading an English book, while their mere colloquial knowledge of Welsh is insufficient to enable them fully to appreciate a Welsh book." An Appendix of the Blue Book refers to the fact "that in Scotland, in Ireland, and in various Continental countries the necessity of bilingual instruction is conceded, and the advantages which accrue from it—e.g., in Switzerland—are acknowledged to be considerable."

That lover of all things Cymric, Mr. Theodore Watts-Dunton, says in his introduction to Borrow's "Wild Wales": "At the period when Borrow wrote this book (it was published in 1862) the great and vigorous renascence of the Cymric idea, the new and deep interest that Welshmen are now taking in the preservation of the Welsh tongue, had not begun. That Borrow did not live to this day, when Welsh is much more spoken among the cultivated class than in his time, is to be lamented." Mr. Watts-Dunton goes on to prove that Borrow was a Celt and not an Anglo-Saxon, and asks: "Does one call the daughters of the Irishman, Patrick Brontë, who were Celtic to the marrow, Yorkshire girls because they were born at Thornton?" Borrow tells us in "Lavengro" that learning Irish at Clonmel made him a philologist. He learned to ride at Templemore, and to that we owe "The Bible in Spain."

Some months ago there was a review in the Irish Homestead, which spoke of the vitality, picturesqueness, and humour of our dialect, and of how much richer it is than the pallid English spoken by those who have read too many newspapers and books, and said: "When one listens to the natural speech of Irish country people, so full of imagination and unexpected phrases, one sometimes comes almost to believe that the writing down of language kills it finally as an instrument of expression, just as the artificial preservation of food destroys the vital element in it. . . . Synge, who showed little merit when he wrote the academic English, wrote great drama when he used the Anglo-Gaelic idiom he discovered in the West of Ireland." The reviewer spoke of the natural dignity and good manners of our country people. Mr. Lloyd George does not know that the Gaelic idiom is in constant use even where Irish has not been spoken for more than a hundred years. That the heir to the English throne takes his title from Wales insures that the Welsh tongue shall not be suppressed.—Yours, etc.,

MISSING HEIRS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—During the first quarter of the year a very large number of advertisements have been published by trustees and solicitors inquiring for missing heirs, legatees, and others. As several of these notices, apart from their monetary value, are of an interesting character, I venture to send you a short résumé of the more important cases.

The heirs of John W. Farrell and Bridget Walsh, of Ireland, who were married in America in 1853, are entitled to £12,000; and B. J. Wellingham, who took part in the Spanish-American War, and was last heard of in a naval hospital, is inquired for. Frederick S. and Thomas H. Carter, of Ontario in 1900, are entitled to legacies under the will of a lady; the brothers and sisters of James Marsden, of Southport, who died in 1886, are wanted; also Jerry Ward, who went abroad many years ago. The children of Margaret Cahill, formerly of Longford, are especially sought; Daniel McCallum, of Campsie, who went to Canada, is missing; and news is required as to the children of John Seymour, who took a public-house near Colchester about forty years ago. An unclaimed legacy in Spain, amounting to 100,000 pesetas, is due to the Plattsberg family, said to be residing in England. The children of George Sinnett, of Bristol, are advertised for; and Annie Mundy, who left her home thirteen years ago, is wanted for something greatly to her advantage. Among other missing beneficiaries are Frederick M. Musgrave, who left Coventry in 1878; Albert G. Reid, of Croydon and Bristol; and the children of Charles Armitage, of Mirfield, Yorks, who went to America.

The next-of-kin or representatives are sought of the Rev. H. J. Clare, of Birkenhead in 1845; Benjamin Newbury, who died at Leatherhead in 1809; Roderick R. Ives, who joined the American Army in 1861; Bryan McShane, of Birmingham in 1867; Ellen Fenwick, of Bexhill; Ann Broom, of Liverpool; Charles George Jones, a mariner, who died at sea in 1846; Edwin Hopkinson, of Huddersfield; Nellie Dillon, of Dublin; Mary Drains, who was born in London in 1839; George T. Ivey, of South Africa; Timothy Sheppard, who emigrated to America in 1797; Arthur R. Foster, formerly of Bootle, who died in 1882; Sarah A. Lacey, of Hanham, Bristol; Patrick Clancey, who was killed in a railway accident; and Christopher Rafferty, who died in the Crofton Tunnel.

In addition, the Treasury Solicitor has advertised for the next-of-kin of several persons whose estates have fallen to the Crown owing to the owners having died intestate without known heirs; and a number of rewards are offered for missing wills, birth, marriage, and death certificates.—Yours, etc.,

DUBLIN CORPORATION MARKETS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The Corporation Markets are not at present a paying concern, but businesslike treatment can easily make them such. Hence the Markets Committee is anxious for a full attendance of members at the Municipal Council meeting summoned for Friday next. The outlined scheme for reorganising this magnificent municipal asset and making it self-supporting will then be considered, when I have no doubt a property which has for many years been atrophied lucratively will become a source of relief to our over-burdened lower and middle-class ratepayers, without injury to any of our citizens.

Similar reforms to those indicated were proposed several times during the lifetime of the late Corporation, but inattention to duty and negligence of civic interests prevailed, and the necessary attendance of members could not be secured to carry what would have been a benefaction to their constituents. However, I have faith that the conscientious motives of all parties in the present Corporation will assert themselves in furthering retrenchment and progress.

I have carefully analysed the list of municipal representatives, and, despite depletion in our ranks and the fact that because of existing circumstances many members cannot attend to municipal duties, I know that, if those who are in a position to do so will forego any other engagements they may have on Friday next, the necessary quota of fifty-four, requisite for putting the suggested reforms into operation, can be made available.—Yours, etc.,

WILLIAM PAUL,
Chairman, Markets Committee.

CLERGYMEN AND MOTOR TAXES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I truly sympathise with the situation in which clergymen and ministers are likely to be placed through the proposed increase of the motor tax, as expressed in the Rev. Francis Beere's letter. In the discharge of my duties I cover a district extending twenty-five miles north, twenty-three miles west, and fifteen miles south of the town in which I live, and would be very awkwardly situated without a car. I imagine that there are few, if any, clergymen or ministers who are running cars for mere pleasure. If that is so, surely they are entitled to similar concessions to those granted to doctors? I would suggest that all who are concerned in this matter should communicate immediately with the Chancellor of the Exchequer, requesting him to take their position into consideration.—Yours, etc.,

"MINISTER."

HOCKEY.

BUCCANEERS' CLUB.

Only two out of the three matches arranged for Buccaneers' tour to Liverpool took place, as, unfortunately, the heavy downpour of rain on Friday rendered the cricket ground at Hightown unplayable. The teams, however, decided to play association football, and a closely contested game resulted in a win for Buccaneers by three goals to one. Buccaneers displayed excellent combination, Hill, Crawford, and Hall being especially prominent.

On Saturday Buccaneers met Formby on the Formby cricket ground, and defeated them after a very fast game by six goals to nil. In the first half, Tyndall opened the scoring, and before the interval goals were added by Le Peton and McCormick. In the second half Formby improved, but could not penetrate the strong defence opposed to them, whereas Le Peton scored twice and McCormick once for Buccaneers. The combination and stick work of Buccaneers on the fast and true ground were particularly good. All the forwards played well, and of the backs, Murphy (at right-half) and Bridge (at right-full) were the pick. Lionel Ashcroft gave a brilliant display at centre-half for Formby, and saved his side repeatedly.

On Easter Monday Buccaneers defeated the Northern Hockey Club at Crosby by six goals to one. The game was even faster than that against Formby, and Buccaneers' forwards in the second half gave a remarkably fine display. Northern scored first, owing to a misunderstanding amongst the visitors' backs, but before half-time Mahony equalised with a good shot, which went into the net high up. In the second half, Buccaneers pressed strongly, and Northern were forced to concede several corners, off one of which Hill scored. Shortly afterwards Mahony increased the lead, and a minute later the same player again scored a brilliant goal. Before the close he added another, and Hill scored off a corner. The feature of the game was the display of Mahony at centre-forward, his stick work being very clever. The game was played at a great pace throughout, Buccaneers proving much faster than their opponents. Hill played a very fine game at centre-half, and Bridge gave another finished exhibition at right full-back.

The ladies' singles championship, held by Mrs. Lambert Chambers, includes Miss E. D. Holman, Miss C. N. Dalby, and Mrs. E. G. Parton.

"ADELAIDE HOSPITAL HALF-CROWN FUND."—The Matron of the Adelaide Hospital writes to say that she has received a cheque for £50 from the honorary secretary of the Tritonville Lawn Tennis Club in response to her appeal for 100,000 half-crowns to clear the debt on the Adelaide Hospital. This substantial sum is the proceeds of a dance, sugar raffle, and basket supper, organised by the members of the club to help the fund. She would feel deeply grateful to the committees of other tennis clubs in Dublin if they would follow the example of Tritonville by running similar social events in aid of this good cause.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Newman and Reece continued the first heat in the first round at Burroughes' Hall, St. James's street, London, yesterday afternoon, when Newman increased his overnight lead of 316 to 909, in a very one-sided session, in which he scored 667, against Reece's 74, the averages being 51 and 5 respectively. Newman made his overnight unfinished break of 153 into 456, by fine open play. A further break of 241 and then 43 and 46 (unfinished) took him to his points. Reece's only breaks were 33 and 20. Interval scores:—Newman (in play), 2,000; Reece, 1,091.

In the early stages of the night session Reece showed great improvement, and up to a point more than held his own. Indeed, up to the last innings Reece was outpointing his opponent by more than 100. Right at the close, however, Newman wound up with a grand break of 351 unfinished. Closing scores:—Newman (in play), 2,666; Reece, 1,450.

INMAN v. FALKINER.

When play in this match of 16,000 up, Falkiner receiving 1,500 start, closed at Leicester square on Monday night, Falkiner had 135 the best of the handicap. Yesterday afternoon, however, he was quite outplayed, for the champion scored 803 in a hundred minutes, with breaks of 314, 271, 64, and 63 (unfinished). Interval scores:—Falkiner (rec. 1,500), 2,811; Inman (in play), 2,001.

Closing scores:—Falkiner (rec. 1,500), 3,278; Inman, 2,667.

THREATENING A STEPMOTHER.

SENTENCE OF TEN MONTHS' HARD LABOUR.

At the Commission Court, Green street, Dublin, yesterday, before the Lord Chief Justice and a jury, Patrick Rourke was indicted on a charge of having at Dunard, in the King's County, on the 20th January last, along with two others, all three being armed and disguised, forcibly entered the house of his father, Joseph Rourke, and threatened his stepmother with the view of intimidating her from giving evidence against him at Petty Sessions.

Mr. Carrigan, K.C., for the prosecution, said that on the night of the 20th, when the defendant's father was on his dying bed, and only his wife and a small child were in the house, about midnight three men, one of whom was armed with a gun, and another with a spade, entered the house. The third man (the prisoner) stood at the door. The door was blown in, shots were fired, and a window was broken. One of the men called upon Mrs. Rourke to make an Act of Contrition, and to promise that she would not appear as witness against her stepson next day. The old man died on February 5th.

The defence was an alibi.

The jury found the prisoner guilty, and he was sentenced to ten months' hard labour.

DEATH OF MR. AUSTIN MILLER.

The death is announced at the age of forty of Mr. J. Austin Miller, the well known sprinter of some years ago. Between the years 1902 and 1907, he won the Essex County 100 yards championship five times, and having made the challenge cup his own property, returned it to the county as a perpetual trophy. He won the L.A.C. sprint championship, and held the 100 yards championship of Wales for several years.

A HOME-MADE GREY HAIR REMEDY.

You Can Make at Home a Better Grey Hair Remedy Than you Can Buy.

Grey streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary. You can darken it without using a dye.

Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will restore the original colour to grey hair. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, ¼ ounce of glycerine, and a small box of Orlex Compound. These ingredients can be bought at any Chemist's at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a grey haired person look twenty years younger. It is not a dye, it does not colour the most delicate scalp, is not greasy, and does not rub off. It will promote the growth of the hair, remove dandruff, and make harsh hair soft and glossy.—(Advt.)

The natural consequence is that the breathing is affected, the bronchial tubes or bronchi become inflamed, and cough, more or less serious, follows. If neglected the entire respiratory system is weakened, and that way consumption lies. Children suffer more frequently from such complaints than do their elders, the death rate among the very young being truly appalling, and in too many instances due entirely to thoughtless neglect.

FINANCIAL NEWS

QUIET STOCKS.

RESTRICTED BUSINESS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

The failure of the markets to live up to expectations was responsible for not a little disappointment on the Stock Exchange yesterday. It will be remembered that on the eve of the Easter holidays markets were buoyant in tone, the close being at the top, and it was generally expected that when the House re-opened after the recess the activity and cheerfulness would be resumed. Hope, therefore, ran very high yesterday morning, and for a brief spell it looked as if business was going to be brisk, but the few orders that had accumulated over the holidays were speedily disposed of, and thereafter a dull tendency set in, with prices inclined to recede. The pessimists found no difficulty in explaining the reaction to their own satisfaction. There were several disturbing factors, they said. First of all there was the situation in Germany, which was menacing the peace of Europe, and on top of this came the report that French troops were on the move—indeed, occupied Frankfort. Other adverse factors were the further fall in the value of the franc and the highly unsettled conditions ruling in Ireland. There were other members, however, who held that the factors mentioned were made the most of to obtain some cheap stock and shares. But the fact remains that markets, after a steady and encouraging opening, went off, and prices moved irregularly, though mostly in the downward direction. American Dollar Securities were marked down substantially, synchronising with the recovery registered in the value of the sovereign while this market was closed for the Easter recess. Foreigners moved irregularly. Argentine Rails lost much of their recent firmness, apart from Central Argentine, which further improved on a continuance of buying. A feature in the Industrial market was a further rise in British Oil and Cake Mills on renewed talk of absorption.

LONDON STOCKS QUIET, BUT CHEERFUL.

The Stock Exchange opened quietly but cheerfully after the recess. The accumulation of business over the holidays was not large, but the tone was hard. Markets felt the benefit of cheaper money conditions, and prices picked up quietly in several directions. In the early afternoon, however, some signs of renewed forced liquidation developed, chiefly in the Oil Share department, where selling was reported on both local and Continental account. Later liquidation spread to other groups of specialities. Gilt-edged issues sagged off after a firm commencement. War Fives closed ⅛ lower at 88. There was no change in the 4½ p.c. Loan, and Consols were unaltered. There was steady support for the Tax Compounded Loan around 95½.

FOREIGN BONDS QUIET.—The Foreign market presented a quiet and unsteady appearance, the latest Continental developments naturally causing some nervousness. French Loans were dull. German Threes were nominal around 6½. Russian issues marked time.

HOME RAILS GOOD.—Home Rails, respite narrow conditions and the unsteadiness of gilt-edged securities, had a firm tone, and quotations left off with moderate fractional gains in several directions. Among Trunk and Trade Stocks there were some gains of ¼ to ½. Passenger Stocks were uninteresting, the dull weather over Easter having no special effect.

CANADIANS AND MEXICANS QUIET.—Canadian Pacifics were marked back to 152 with other dollar securities. Grand Trunk Stocks made a firm start, but turned easier later. Mexican Rails were steady but neglected, and quotations were not altered on balance. Argentine Rails more than cancelled an opening improvement in some directions, concluding with falls ranging from fractions to a point. There was some support for Brazilian Rails.

Changes.—Rise—Central Argentine, ½ to 73. Falls—Canadian Pacific, 3 to 152; B.A. Great Southern, ½ to 82½; B.A. Pacific, ½ to 70; B.A. Western, ½ to 83½; United Havana, ½ to 89.

Coupons belonging to holders resident in the United Kingdom will be subject to the deduction of British Income Tax at the rate of 6/- in the £, less relief at the rate of 2/5.77d., making a net deduction at the rate of 3/6.23d. in the £.

The above relief, 2/5.77d. in the £ from British Income Tax for the year ending 5th April, 1921, has been provisionally authorised by the Commissioners of Inland Revenue in respect of the Union of South Africa Income Tax.

The Company is requested to state that, in respect of any payment of dividend or interest on which relief has been allowed by reductions of British Income Tax at a reduced rate the Commissioners will not entertain claims:

1. Relief in respect of Colonial Income Tax already granted to the Company on their behalf, and passed on to them in the form of a reduced deduction; or

2. Relief by reduction of the rate of Income Tax payable in respect of unearned income where the individual's total income does not exceed £2,000, unless the amount of the relief from British Income Tax allowed by the reduced deductions falls short of the total amount of relief which would have been allowable on the dividend or interest in question if the individual concerned had first obtained relief in respect of unearned income on the grounds of his total income not exceeding £2,000, and had then claimed by way of repayments the relief (if any) to which he was entitled in respect of Colonial Income Tax.

All Coupons presented at the Societe Generale, Paris, as well as any presented at the London Agency, for account of holders resident in France, will be subject to a deduction of 1/3 in the £ on account of French Transfer Duty and Income Tax. Coupons must be left four clear days for examination at either of the Offices mentioned above, and may be lodged any day (Saturdays excepted) between the hours of eleven and two. Listing forms may be had on application.

INDUSTRIALS SHOW A HESITATING TENDENCY.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Not only was the Miscellaneous and Industrial market sparsely populated yesterday, but the provincial Exchanges being closed, or, in other words, having no members present at all, exercised a subduing effect upon business. In many provincial centres it is customary to include the Tuesday following Easter Monday in the holidays. Potential buyers were consequently seriously reduced in numbers. Transactions were not numerous, and in view of this lack of public support it is to be considered satisfactory for prices to have maintained their previous level. Some specialities were active, and a number of higher quotations figured in the final make-up. Dunlops were better. Oilcakes continued in demand. Liebigs enjoyed a rise. Cements were firm, and British Portlands hardened. Textiles as a group kept well together. Movements were infrequent, but, on the whole, quotations were pretty much the same as the closing prices of Thursday last. Iron and Steels were dealt in to a moderate extent. The Birmingham Exchange being closed, the Hickman issues hung fire. Birmingham is now the centre of activity in these shares. Vickers were still dull. Ebbw Vales rose on a fair demand. United Steel stiffened. Brunner Monds gained the turn. Guest Keen were easier. Nitrates were quite firm, with Anglo-Chilian a good spot. Among Motors, Rolls-Royce improved fractionally. Darracqs declined. B.A.T. were easier, but Imperials kept the price. Courtaulds receded slightly. Pullman Car were better. Canadian-Americans were marked down. Shipping Securities were neglected. Cairn Lines were an exception, benefiting in a minor degree. Insurance shares were harder in places. Breweries were stagnant, and business in Banks was negligible.

Business in the Iron and Steel section yesterday was of small proportions. Prices, on the whole, were satisfactorily maintained. Declines were not frequent. Here and there rises were noted. Shipping Securities failed to revive to any appreciable extent. There was no notable weakness. Cairn Lines improved 1-16 to 1 11-16. There was little by which the Textile collection could claim distinction. On the whole, prices were well maintained. Changes were infrequent. Courtaulds were 1-16 easier at 8 11-16. Spinners lost ⅛ at 5 11-16. There was some talk of the negotiations for purchase being off for the time being. The market view seems to be that the chances of the shares being taken over, though reduced at present, are sufficient to cause hesitation either to buy or to sell. The fact that a buyer is in the market is not to be entirely disregarded, because negotiations have not yet fructified. Bleachers lost ground at 54s. 6d. Cottons at 2⅞, Coats at 3⅝, and Calicos at 44s. 6d. were all unchanged. Dyers closed firm at 3. John Wood and Brothers were 27s. 6d. Amalgamated Cottons were quoted 2¼ ex. all. British Cellulose were active, both Ord. at 27s. 6d. and Pref. at 11s. 3d. closing better on the day. Among Miscellaneous descriptions, Dunlops changed hands up to 10⅞, or ⅛ higher on balance. A large business was done in British Oil and Cake up to 49s. 6d., at which the shares showed a rise of 2s. Cements finished unchanged at 30s. British Portlands hardened to 36s. 6d. Borax Def. were the turn better at 37s. 3d. Amalgamated Industrials eased to 23s. 6d. Maypole Dairy Defd. put on the turn at 15s. 6d. Liptons shed 6d. at 30s. Van Den Bergh "B" Pref. were better at 17s. B.A.T. lost 1-16 at 5¼, but Imperials showed resistance at their low level of 50s. One or two good rises were recorded in the Nitrate section. Business was not in large proportions, but prices kept up well on the whole.

MINES BECOME DULL.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Mines were no exception to the general rule, and in the Kaffir section the drop of 2s. to £5 3s. per ounce in the price of gold, although only a reflex of the improvement in the New York exchange, exercised a restraining influence upon bulls, while the adverse movement in the French rate to about 59,60 francs aroused fears of continual liquidation. Consequently prices which had been rising in the morning began to fall back, the downward movement being assisted by the realisations of professional operators who had bought shares in anticipation of a continuance of last Thursday's cheerfulness. Nearly all the usually active counters were affected, and at the close shrinkages were general, the chief sufferers being Central Mining, Rand Mines, Randfontein, Crown Mines, and Brakpan. The news of the accident, blocking a shaft of the Randfontein Central, did not tend to improve matters, and the tone at the close was dullish. Rhodesians were not much in evidence, and Chartered and Rhodesian Broken Hill became easier, but Globes received support. Apart from Jagersfontein, which were affected by the strike news, Diamonds had quite a strong appearance, though De Beers Def., after being considerably higher, were finally unaltered. The price of tin was 30s. down at £350 5s. per ton, but the Share market was indifferent, and the half-dozen changes recorded were irregular in character. West African Gold Shares were dull, but in the Australian section there was a disposition to pick up Barriers, in anticipation of some arrangement being come to for the settlement of the protracted labour dispute. Coppers were idle, and in the Miscellaneous list Burmas and the Mexican issues were inclined to drop, but Waihi displayed a rallying tendency.

REACTION FOLLOWS FIRM START IN LEADING OILS.

SUBSTANTIAL LOSSES IN BURMAHS, MEXICAN EAGLES, AND SHELLS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Having regard to the strength displayed by the Oil Share market during the week preceding the holiday, yesterday's session proved a disappointing one. The opening was distinctly firm all round, but the business which had accumulated over the week-end was not up to expectations, and after the execution of a moderate number of buying orders, the tendency became easier practically all round. While the news of the German situation provided a sufficient excuse for the wholesale marking down of prices, the falls in the case of most of the leading descriptions were of a heavy character, and although these showed a disposition to rally towards the end, declines still predominated at the close of business. Among the leaders, Burmahs were the chief sufferers, which was not surprising following the sharp advance which occurred just before the holiday, and, despite a recovery towards the close, they still showed an appreciable loss on the day. Shells and Mexican Eagles were freely offered, but finished above the worst, and lower prices were quoted for Royal Dutch and Anglo-American. Trinidad issues gave way with the rest of the market, and one or two Russians moved down. In other directions Venezuelan Oil Concessions came on offer and slipped back, and Anglo-Egyptian "B" developed an easier tendency. Scottish-American suffered a sharp set-back, and with them Tankers Pref. and Caltex weakened.

IMPROVEMENT IN RUBBER SHARES.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The Rubber share market continued to display the better tendency which was in evidence at the close of last week. Since Wednesday last quotations have made further headway. While there was no open bidding for Stock, a quiet investment demand brought about a substantial recovery from the dulness recently prevailing, and in some cases the heavy decline has been more or less wiped out. Rubber itself was practically unchanged around 2s. 2½d. Anglo-Dutch, after rising to 53s. 9d., reacted to 53s. 3d. Anglo-Malay improved to 14s. 6d. and Bah Lias to 52s. 6d. Batu Kawan were 1-16 harder at 41s. 3d., and Bukit Kajang changed hands around 71s. 3d. Bukit Panjong were a trifle off at 2s. 9d. Highlands rose 1-16 to 60s., and Java Amalgamated were better around 48s. 9d. There were buyers of Java Rubber and Produce around 60s., and K.M.S. were 1-16 higher at 36s. 3d. Langen Java advanced to 48s. 9d., and Linggis showed an improvement of ⅛ to 3⅛. London Asiatic were 6d. better at 7s., and Pilmoor advanced sharply to 83s. 9d., this being a rise of 1-16. Rubana were about ⅛ up at 43s. 9d., and Rubber Trust were better at 41s. 6d. Sialang and Tandjong each showed a rise of 1-16 at 93s. 9d. and 68s. 9d. respectively, while United Serdang were harder at 14s. 3d. United Sua Betong were ⅛ up at 5⅛, and Vallambrosa and Wampoe were both 1s. higher at 23s. 6d. and 41s. respectively. In the Borneo section the tone improved. Bodes were 2d. better at 2s. 7d., Langkon N. Borneo were 6d. harder at 21s. 9d., while Membakut were 1-16 higher at 28s. 9d. Sabias were 1s. up at 28s. 6d., and Tenoms were wanted at 4 1-16.

THE MONEY MARKET.

Bank Rate (changed Nov. 6th) .... 6 p.c.

The Money market re-opened with no special stress of activity after the holidays. Available credits were increased by nearly seven millions owing to the disbursement of Consols and other Government dividends. Calls on new capital aggregated about a quarter of a million. Displacements on both calls and dividends will again be heavy to-day. The rate for call money ranged from 4 to 4½ p.c. during the first part of the day, but balances were obtainable at 3 p.c. and less. There was a moderate demand for fixtures around 4½ p.c. Business in discounts was on a light scale, and quotations, as a rule, were steady around previous levels. Short paper changed hands at 4⅞ to 4⅞ p.c. Two months' fine drafts were posted at 5 to 5⅛ p.c., three months' at 5⅜ p.c., and six months' at 5⅞ to 6 p.c.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS

George Clare and Co., Ltd., announce that letters of allotment and regret in connection with the recent issue of Pref. and Ord. Shares of Crowden and Keeves, Limited, have been posted.

Allotment letters in the Anglo-Marine Insurance Company, Limited, were posted last week.

The arrangements for the payment of the New Jagersfontein dividends are set forth in an advertisement in another column of this issue.

The shareholders of Halley's Industrial Motors in general meeting have approved of the increase in the capital from £150,000 to £750,000, and the directors have now arranged to issue 140,000 Ordinary Shares at a premium of 5/- per share to holders registered on 12th March in the proportion of one new share for each share held. The new shares will not participate in any interim dividend which may be declared during the year ending 30th September, 1920. Letters of renunciation are issued.

An extraordinary meeting of Callender's Cable and Construction Company will be held at River Plate House, London, E.C. 2, on 15th April, to pass resolutions to divide the existing 180,000 shares of £5 each into 900,000 shares of £1 each, to increase the capital to £1,300,000 by the creation of 400,000 "B" Seven and a Half per Cent. Preference Shares, ranking for dividend in priority to the Ordinary Shares.

The British Glass Industries is acquiring a controlling interest in the Triplex Safety Glass Company.

If analogy can be drawn from the experience of the New Modderfontein and Modderfontein Deep Level Companies, the proposals to split the shares of the Modderfontein "B" Gold Mines Company into 5/- denomination will prove advantageous to proprietors. The splitting in the case of the New Modderfontein Gold Mining Company resulted in the establishment of a much freer market at £4, which is equivalent to £32 for the shares in their old form, and also in the case of the Modderfontein Deep Levels, whose current price of 2½ is equal to 10½ for the old shares. Mere maintenance of the equivalent of the current quotation for Modderfontein "B" Shares would mean a price of 36/-. We should be surprised if this is not improved upon. The annual report now issued does not, as a whole, support the recent rumours that all was not well with the company. Profits which are £881,036 display substantial recovery. On the basis of the average dividend of the past two years the shares now yield 12½ per cent.

There is good reason to believe that the appointment of the Grand Trunk Committee of Management may be announced shortly. We gather that the delay has been mainly due to unavoidable formalities, and that it is these formalities that are preventing the official announcement of what is practically an accomplished fact. The actual date of appointment is particularly important, because, as we pointed out some weeks ago, the Government guarantee of the interest on the Debenture and Guaranteed Stocks commences at that date.

The Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury give notice that on and after April 12th, 1920, they will be prepared to offer prices for certain American dollar securities deposited with them. The holders of these dollar securities will be advised individually, and lists of the securities to be purchased will be exhibited at the various Stock Exchanges. The business will be transacted at the National Debt (Branch) Office, 33 London Wall, E.C. 2.

MARKET REPORTS.

CATTLE.—BIRMINGHAM, Tuesday.—A good show of pigs in the market, including a number of Irish. But trade was not so active, the sharp rise in prices following decontrol causing buyers to hold off. The deadweight quotation continues at 42/- per score.

DERBY, Tuesday.—More fat cattle on offer, the majority being local fed; a few were rejected, but the remainder were of good quality. Sheep were in much larger supply, and all from other districts; most of the animals were clipped, and pelts made about 8/- each. Pigs were a dear trade, making up to about 44/- per score, carcase weight. Calves were cheaper. Numbers in the market—Cattle 130, sheep 867, pigs 60, calves 84.

SALFORD, Tuesday.—Supplies of cattle consisted of 70 beasts from the North country, mostly of first grade, and 162 of second grade from Welsh sources. No sheep on offer. At Manchester about 750 pigs were shown, nearly all being Irish; quality and demand were both good.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, Tuesday.—Larger supply of fat cattle, while sheep were penned in similar numbers to last week. Quality, generally, was fairly good. Numbers in the market—Cattle 750, sheep 605, calves 72, pigs 10.

Lever's Palm Nut Cake, £10; Palm Meal, £10 5/-, free on rails, Dublin, less 5/- ton for cash. Dairy Cake and Meal, Pig Meal, Undec. Cotton Cake. Agent—William Rourke, 36 North Circular road. 'Phone—3617. Buy from the manufacturer.—(Advt.)

GRAIN.—FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES.—THE BALTIC, Tuesday.—WHEAT—No allocations made to-day. MAIZE steady; quiet; steamer cargoes of La Plata due out to load early May sellers 75/-, while sailers May would come at 74/. Parcels of ditto April-May quoted 69/9, May-June sold 68/6 per 480 lbs. BARLEY dull; Californian new crop September-October sellers 85/- per 448lbs. OATS inactive; Plate 42lbs. March-April quoted 54/3, and April-May 53/6 per 320lbs.

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.—C.i.f. parcels of wheat were not offered. Maize firm, and 75/- per qr. paid for about shipping and shipped River Plate, with April-May quoted 70/6, May-June 69/-, and June-July 68/6 per qr. WHEAT on the spot was quiet, but steady and unaltered. MAIZE—Spot parcels moved but moderately at the quotations. FLOUR in moderate demand on the Government terms. BEANS, PEAS, BARLEY, and OATMEAL showed no material change. OATS dull and easier, especially for imported, which were freely offered at the reduced prices. MILL OFFALS steady, but not specially active. OIL AND COTTON CAKES attracted little attention. Yellow River Plate maize futures were steady early on and afterwards improved, the market showing 1d. per cental advance at the close. Sales five loads at 15/7½ per cental for July delivery. Closing values—July 15/8, September 16/- per cental.

PROVISIONS.—LONDON BORO' AND SPITALFIELDS POTATO, Tuesday—Limited supplies, including Irish, Dutch, and Danish, met a steady demand at control prices. Quotations:—£13 per ton to the farmer and £15 per ton upwards, ex store, according to transport charges.

LONDON, Tuesday.—EGGS rather steadier, with an improved inquiry. English quoted 28/- to 29/-, Irish 24/6 to 25/-, Irish duck 35/- to 36/-, Danish hen 24/- to 29/6 as to weight, Chinese 16/- to 21/-, Egyptian 15/8 per 120. Morocco cleared, but another consignment is due in a few days.

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.—BACON—Cable advices from Chicago since last report show little material change, and a quiet tone generally prevails in this market, business being chiefly confined to executing orders which have accumulated over the holidays. Danish and Irish bacon is unobtainable, while there are only oddments of Canadian about, and business is consequently in American Wiltshires, which move moderately, while Cumberlands are freely offered and meet some little offtake, and the best-conditioned lots of clear bellies find buyers at the Claims Committee's allowances, with backs practically exhausted. HAMS remain scarce, and holders insist on a proportion of bacon being taken in conjunction. Shoulders quiet, though squares find an outlet owing to the ham shortage. LARD on the spot rules quiet, with continued free offerings of American refined, but raw parcels relatively scarce. CHEESE in fair request at 1/5½ per lb. for Government owned, delivered to retailers, while the few free parcels of Cheshire realise 1/9 to 1/11 per lb. BUTTER scarce and finds a ready acceptance whenever obtainable. Large quantities of controlled butter have recently arrived. EGGS remain quiet at 23/- and 24/- for Irish hen, 35/- to 36/- duck, and 16/8 per 120 Egyptian.

JAMES J. HALPIN, Wholesale Bacon Merchant, 18-19 Thomas st., Dublin. Telegrams—"Middles." 'Phone 1716. Specialising in O'Mara's, Ltd., products.—(Advt.)

MANCHESTER, Tuesday.—BUTTER—Larger supplies of Danish are expected owing to the increase in the ration; Irish creamery butter has only a limited enquiry, the prices asked being too high for this market. BACON—American choice cuts, good quality, offering; no Irish and little Canadian or Danish obtainable. HAMS steady and unchanged. LARD quiet at late rates. CHEESE—Distribution imported instead of British expected last week. EGGS—Prices Irish more settled; hens 24/- to 25/-, ducks 34/- to 35/-.

DUBLIN WHOLESALE VEGETABLE, Tuesday.—A fairly large supply of all classes of seasonable vegetables to hand this morning. Demand on the whole was good. In the fruit section apples made 22/- to 30/- per barrel; strawberries, 9/- to 12/- per lb.

The following is average run of values—Salmon, 3/6 per lb.; large soles, 25/- to 30/- per 9 pairs; mediums, 15/- to 20/-; slips, 10/- to 12/- per ditto; turbot, 5/- to 15/- each; brill, 3/- to 6/- each; box fish, plaice, 25/- to 60/- per half box; cod, 30/- to 35/-; pollock, 20/- to 30/-; whiting, 15/- to 30/-; white soles, 40/- to 60/-; gurnard, 3/- to 6/-; ray, 15/- to 20/- per half box; herrings, 25/- to 27/6 per box.

BILLINGSGATE FISH, Tuesday.—Supply moderate; steady demand. Salmon, 4/8 to 5/-; salmon trout, 2/- to 3/-; soles, 2/-; slips, 1/7 to 1/9 per lb.; live eels, 45/-; dead, 25/- per draft; turbot, 10/- to 15/-; brill, 10/- to 14/-; plaice, 10/6 to 16/-; halibut, 23/-; lemon soles, 16/- to 17/-; cod, 5/- to 7/-; hake, 12/-; haddocks, 5/- to 8/-; skate wings, 5/- per stone.

Vauxhall
THE CAR SUPEREXCELLENT

A car for the few

THE Vauxhall is a first-grade car in every particular. It is the finest car of its type—the fruit of seventeen years' sustained progress. Its performance, as it is to be expected from the car which during the war was the favourite staff car, captivates the connoisseur.

Its finish is an exception among much after war-work of the "not-quite-satisfactory" kind. It is strikingly handsome in appearance, and most comfortable.

Its durability is to be gauged by the fact that it is guaranteed for three years, with no limit to the distance that may be travelled in that time. Its long wearing life causes it to be in world-wide demand.

There are bigger, but not better cars. No car produced in the United Kingdom has a sounder general reputation. For a car owner to be able to say I have a Vauxhall, is to say all.

You should make immediate enquiry if you wish to have a Vauxhall this season. A catalogue and all particulars will be supplied by the undermentioned local agents.

Two types: 25 h.p., 4 cylinders 95 mm. x 140 mm. wheelbase—10 ft. 10 ins.; and 30-98 h.p. (sporting) 4 cylinders 98 mm. x 150 mm. wheelbase—9 ft. 6 ins.
